TWO-TIME WORLD CHAMPIONS: SUPER BOWL XXXV (2000) & SUPER BOWL XLVII (2012)

2017 OVERVIEW

GENERAL

- Winning six of its last nine games, Baltimore finished second in the AFC North with a 9-7 record in 2017, falling one game short of earning a playoff berth (lost on tiebreaker) for the seventh time in John Harbaugh's 10-year tenure.
- All the Ravens needed to make the 2017 playoffs was a home win over Cincinnati in Week 17. However, Baltimore's hopes were dashed when the Bengals produced a 49-yard touchdown pass on fourth-and-12 with just 44 seconds remaining to earn a hard-fought, 31-27 victory that closed out the Ravens' season in heartbreaking fashion.
- Baltimore has been incredibly close to making the playoffs the past two seasons, with the 2017 Cincinnati despair following 2016's last-second, 31-27 defeat in Week 16 at Pittsburgh, in which the Steelers captured the AFC North title from the Ravens in exhilarating form.

DEFENSE

- The Ravens produced NFL bests in interceptions (22), takeaways (34) and shutouts (3 – the most in a season since the 2003 Patriots). Additionally, Baltimore's +17 turnover differential ranked No. 1 in the NFL, while its defensive passer rating (72.4) and 5 defensive touchdowns (tied with Det. & Phi.) were each second best.
- Baltimore allowed just 18.9 points per game, which ranked sixth best in the league. It marked the seventh time during the John Harbaugh Era (since 2008) that the Ravens produced a Top 10 scoring "D."
- Behind Pro Bowlers LB C.J. Mosley, OLB Terrell Suggs and S Eric Weddle, Baltimore's defense ranked 12th overall (325.1 ypg), producing the NFL's 10th-best pass defense (213.8 ypg) and ranking 15th against the run (111.3 ypg).

OFFENSE

- Over the season's last nine games, Baltimore scored the NFL's second-most points per contest (29.4). During this span, the Ravens also ranked No. 1 in fewest giveaways (5) and No. 2 in sacks allowed (10).
- Baltimore finished the year ranking ninth overall in points per game (24.7) and seventh (tied) in both giveaways (17) and sacks allowed (27).
- RB Alex Collins concluded with 973 rushing yards and 1,160 yards from scrimmage, adding 6 TDs. His 4.6-yard rushing average ranked fourth among NFL RBs who posted over 200 carries. The Ravens' run game was No. 11 in the NFL (116.0 ypg), up from 2016's No. 28 ranking.

SPECIAL TEAMS

- Football Outsiders* tabbed Baltimore's special teams as the NFL's No. 1 overall unit in 2017. The Ravens' ranking is the NFL's eighth highest in a season since 1986. In the annual special teams report from senior NFL writer Rick Gosselin, Baltimore has now ranked in the league's Top 5 for six-straight seasons (No. 4 in 2017).
- The most accurate kicker in NFL history, K Justin Tucker connected on 34 of 37 FGAs and all 39 PATs to earn first-alternate Pro Bowl honors.
- P Sam Koch posted NFL bests in both punts inside the 10 (16) & 20 (40). The 40 boots inside the 20 set a new franchise record.
- Baltimore also ranked No. 1 in kickoff return average (27.5), No. 5 in punt return average (10.1) and No. 1 in opponent KOR average (18.6).

2017 NUMBERS TO RAVE ABOUT

11

Sacks by OLB Terrell Suggs, tying for the NFL's 11th most. In an amazing 15 seasons, his 125.5 career sacks rank No. 2 (tied, Dwight Freeney) among active players, only behind Julius Peppers (154.5).

INTs by S Eric Weddle, who in 2017 tied (A.J. Bouye) for the NFL's third most. In two seasons as a Raven, Weddle has tallied 10 INTs, which rank No. 1 among all NFL safeties.

NFL defenders, including Ravens second-year OLB Matthew Judon, who posted at least 50 tackles, 15 tackles for loss, 8 sacks and 2 forced fumbles in 2017. Judon joined Jadeveon Clowney, Chandler Jones, Cameron Jordan and Von Miller in the elite group.

NFL ranking of 2017 rookie CB Marlon Humphrey's defensive passer rating (49.6), among players who were targeted a minimum of 15 times. The first-round pick also snagged 2 INTs.

All-time NFL ranking for K Justin Tucker's FG% (90.2), including a 91.9 mark (34 of 37) in 2017. Tucker made 19-straight boots to close out the season, with his lone misses coming from 58, 62 and 46 (blocked) yards.

FLACCO HEATED UP

QB Joe Flacco missed all of training camp with a back injury, but returned to start Week 1. As he eased back into football shape, his first several weeks of the season weren't up to his standards. Additionally, Flacco was adjusting to the Ravens' reshuffled offensive line, which experienced many early-season injuries, but eventually gelled to become a team strength. Below are Flacco's statistics in the final seven games, when he and Baltimore's offense began to hit its stride, and the team went 5-2.

2018 COACHING CHANGES

• The Ravens promoted Don "Wink" Martindale to defensive coordinator, Mike Macdonald to linebackers coach and Sterling Lucas to quality control – defense. The moves came following the departure of former defensive coordinator Dean Pees, who originally retired following the season, but later decided to return to coaching as Tennessee's defensive coordinator.

• Martindale, 54, enters his seventh year with the Ravens after serving as LBs coach from 2016-17 and ILBs coach from 2012-15. Under his guidance, LB C.J. Mosley has developed into one of the NFL's top defenders, earning three Pro Bowls in his first four seasons.

• The Ravens also hired James Urban as their quarterbacks coach, while Greg Roman was promoted to assistant head coach. Urban spent the past seven years as the Bengals' wide receivers coach. Prior to that, he was the Philadelphia Eagles' quarterbacks coach in 2009 and 2010, when he helped direct Pro Bowl seasons for Donovan McNabb ('09) and Michael Vick ('10).

• Roman, who was hired by the Ravens in 2017 as the team's senior offensive assistant/tight ends coach, will continue his work coaching the TEs.

SUPER BOWL CHAMPIONS

LB Ray Lewis - 2000
Super Bowl XXXV MVP

In a magnificent effort showcasing thrilling performances by their defense, offense and special teams units, the Baltimore Ravens won Super Bowl XXXV with a 34-7 victory over the New York Giants. Allowing the Giants a meager 152 total net yards, New York's attack crossed midfield just twice, while Baltimore's "D" posted 4 INTs. LB Ray Lewis was named the game's MVP, capping an accolade-filled season in which he was also tabbed the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year.

QB Joe Flacco - 2012
Super Bowl XLVII MVP

Baltimore defeated San Francisco, 34-31, in Super Bowl XLVII, capturing the franchise's second World Championship. After an amazing first-half performance, the Ravens took a commanding 28-6 lead. But following a bizarre, 34-minute power outage that halted play, the 49ers stormed back into contention. Clinging to a 34-29 edge late in the game, the Ravens stood firm on a pivotal goal-line stand, jamming SF on four-straight plays inside the 7-yard line. QB Joe Flacco was named the game's MVP.

THE HARBAUGH FILE

John Harbaugh has led the Ravens to a playoff berth in six (2008-12 & 2014) of his 10 seasons in Baltimore, and in 2012, captured the franchise's second Super Bowl title. Under "Harbs," the Ravens have secured an appearance in three AFC Championships (2008, 2011 & 2012).

Here are several Harbaugh quick hits:

- The Ravens are one of only eight teams (NE – 9; GB – 8; Pit. – 7; Atl., Bal., Cin., Ind. & Sea. – 6) to earn at least six postseason berths in the last 10 years. (Baltimore has won at least one game in each of those playoff campaigns.)
- The Ravens' 10 playoff wins since 2008 rank second only to New England's 13.
- "Harbs" is the only head coach in NFL history to win a playoff game in each of his first four and five seasons.
- John and his brother, Jim (formerly of the 49ers), are the only head coaches to advance to three conference title games in the first five years as NFL bosses.
- Harbaugh is the only coach in NFL history to win a playoff game in six of the first seven seasons of a coaching career.
- In 2012, Harbaugh became the third coach (with Bill Cowher & Chuck Knox) since the 1970 merger to guide his team to the playoffs in each of his first five seasons.
- Harbaugh owns the third-most playoff wins (10, tied) by a coach in his first 10 seasons (since the 1970 merger).
- With the Ravens' 2014 playoff berth, Harbaugh became one of eight coaches in NFL history to make the postseason in six of their first seven seasons coaching.
- For coaches to make the playoffs in at least six of their first 10 years, "Harbs" is one of five active coaches to do so (Pete Carroll, Mike McCarthy, Andy Reid & Mike Tomlin).
- Harbaugh, Tom Landry (Dal.) and Tom Coughlin (Jax./NYG) own the most road playoff wins (7) by a HC in NFL history.

"John is the best coach I know, the best I've ever come across or competed against. I'm envious of the grasp he has of the entire game. I think offensively and with quarterback play, I'm right there with him. But I've got a ways to go in terms of special teams and understanding defense the way he does. I'm half as good as John is, but I'm trying."

JERRY ROSBURG & SPECIAL TEAMS NOTES

ROSBURG LEADS RAVENS SPECIALISTS

SEASONS
RAVENS: 10
NFL: 17

Special teams coordinator/associate head coach Jerry Rosburg has guided a stellar special teams group since arriving in Baltimore in 2008. Below are several standout notes about the coach and his successful group of specialists.

SIX PRO BOWLERS

• Six Ravens have earned eight combined Pro Bowl honors while playing for Rosburg: ST Brendon Ayanbadejo (2008), K Billy Cundiff (2010), RS Jacoby Jones (2012), K Justin Tucker (2013 & 2016), LS Morgan Cox (2015 & 2016) and P Sam Koch (2015).

PRIME KICKER & PUNTER

• Two-time Pro Bowl K Justin Tucker, who Rosburg scouted and helped sign as a rookie free agent, owns the NFL's most FGs (202) since entering the NFL in 2012. With an 90.2% career success mark, "Tuck" is the most accurate kicker in league history (202-of-224 on FGAs). Earning his first Pro Bowl nod in 2015, P Sam Koch's 46.7 gross average ranked No. 9 in the NFL that season, while his 42.9 net average was No. 2. In 2017, Koch led the NFL in both punts inside the 10 (16) and inside the 20 (a franchise-record 40).

RAVENS' BIG RETURNS

• Led by Pro Bowl RS Jacoby Jones in the 2012 Super Bowl season, Baltimore ranked first in the NFL in KOR average (27.3). Jones, who became the first player ever to record dual KORs of at least 105 yards in a career, tied for a league-leading 3 kick return TDs (2 KORs & 1 PR). He also tied an NFL record for longest KOR in a Super Bowl with his 108-yard KOR-TD. (In 2014's game at Pit., he added another 108-yarder to his resume, marking 4 total KOR-TDs over 100 yards in his career.)

2017: RAVENS RETURN GAMES SOARS IN WEEK 6 vs. CHICAGO

• In Week 6 vs. Chicago, for the first time in franchise history, the Ravens returned a kickoff and punt return for a TD in the same game. RB Bobby Rainey Jr. posted a 96-yard KOR-TD, while WR Michael Campanaro registered a 77-yard PR-TD. The Ravens became the first NFL team to have KOR and PR touchdowns in the same game since 2013, when Detroit and Kansas City each accomplished the feat on 12/8/13.

BALTIMORE BLOCK PARTY

Since 2014, the Ravens have produced the NFL's second-most blocked kicks (13, tied), including an NFL-high (tied) 4 in 2016.

MARTY MORNHINWEG & OFFENSIVE NOTES

MARTY MANS THE OFFENSE

Marty Mornhinweg was elevated to offensive coordinator on Oct. 10, 2016. A 23-year NFL coaching veteran, Mornhinweg, who joined Baltimore as QBs coach in 2015, is a former head coach of the Lions (2001-02). He has also served as offensive coordinator for the New York Jets (2013-14), Philadelphia Eagles (2004-12) and San Francisco 49ers (1997-2000).

FIVE PRO BOWLERS

• Throughout his NFL coaching career, five quarterbacks have earned Pro Bowl honors under Mornhinweg's direction: Michael Vick, Donovan McNabb, Steve Young, Jeff Garcia and Brett Favre.

DON "WINK" MARTINDALE & DEFENSIVE NOTES

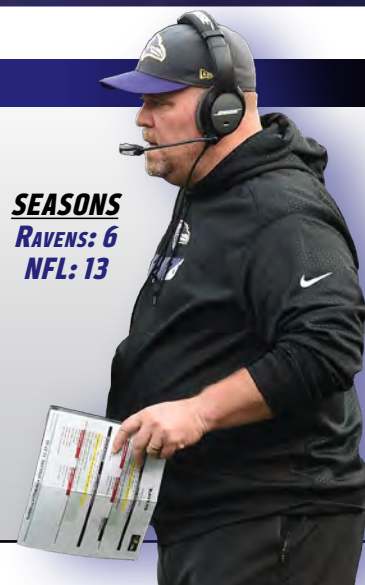

"WINK" TO LEAD THE DEFENSE

On Jan. 9, 2018, the Ravens promoted Don "Wink" Martindale to defensive coordinator following the retirement of Dean Pees. Martindale, 54, enters his seventh year with the Ravens after serving as LBs coach from 2016-17 and ILBs coach from 2012-15. Under his guidance, LB C.J. Mosley has become one of the league's top defenders, earning three Pro Bowls.

The 2018 campaign will mark Martindale's 14th season coaching in the NFL, where he has also spent time with Oakland (2004-08) and Denver (2009-10). In 2010, he served as the Broncos' defensive coordinator.

"'Wink' has earned the promotion to defensive coordinator," John Harbaugh stated. "His aggressive mentality will serve to take our defense to new levels. He is obviously respected by players, many of whom have already benefited from his direct coaching at the linebacker position. He knows the ins and outs of what we have been about on defense and has been an important contributor to our success on that side of the ball. This is an exciting day for Wink and his family, and also one for the Ravens."

Ravens LB C.J. Mosley on Don "Wink" Martindale: "'Wink' is a great players' coach. He'll always make sure to guide you in the right direction, and he cares more about what you do outside of football than what you do on the field. He wants to make sure you're doing the right thing at all times. He always wants the best for you. He always says, 'I treat you like my kids,' and I appreciate that. He's a great coach."

RAVENS "20/20" CLUB

The Ravens' "20/20 Club" includes members of the team's personnel staff who started with the Ravens as young assistants and grew into evaluators with more input. The term "20/20" refers to hiring 20-year-olds for $20,000. But according to Ozzie Newsome: "The guys actually started when they were a little older than 20 and for more than $20,000, but that's what we call them."

From Day One, [Jefferson] already had a feel for how I play and how to work off me. ... It frees me up a lot more mentally. I don't have to tell him after each play why I did this or, before the snap, say, 'Let's do this.' He already knows. That is just light years ahead of most guys I've played with. NOTE THE QUOTE

ESPN.com's Kevin Seifert on Sam Koch's arsenal of punts:

"Some are designed to hook toward the sideline with maximum hang time. Others use an intentionally low trajectory to aid coverage teams. He has a knuckler and one kick that drops, from the returner's perspective, roughly in the shape of the letter 'S.' He's debuted a 'boomerang' punt that does just what you would imagine it might. Most, but not all, of these punts are intended to discourage a clean catch and minimize the return.

"It's not unusual for NFL punters to develop a 'changeup' of sorts, but no one has ever had multiple options at the ready. ... The NFL changes every day, but there are only a few moments in each generation when it transforms. This is one of them. In plain sight, Sam Koch and the Ravens have introduced a new way to punt."

PERHAPS THE BEST YEAR EVER

In 2016, All-Pro K Justin Tucker connected on 38 of 39 FGAs (lone miss was a block), posting the fifth-best percentage in NFL single-season history. In addition to making 35-straight FGs at one point (tied for fifth-best streak ever), here are several facts about his remarkable season, which is arguably the best ever by a kicker:

- ✓ Tucker's 38 FGs made ranked No. 1 in the NFL. He was also 27-of-27 on PATs. An NFL single-season record 24 of Tucker's 38 FGs made in 2016 came from 40 yards or beyond.
- ✓ Tucker's 10 FGs of 50-plus yards are a Ravens' single-season record. They tie (Blair Walsh, 2012) for the most in NFL history. (Tucker was a perfect 10-for-10 from 50 yards and out during the 2016 season.)
- ✓ Tucker's 141 points ranked second in the league only behind Atlanta's Matt Bryant (158).
- ✓ In Week 12 vs. Cincy, Tucker became just the ninth kicker in league history to make 3 FGs of 50-plus yards in a single game (52, 57 & 54). He is also the first kicker in NFL history to make 3 FGs of 50-plus yards in the first half of a game. (These feats earned him AFC ST POW honors.)

TUCKER TIDBITS

- ✓ Since PATs were moved back in 2015, Tucker (95-of-95) is the only NFL kicker yet to miss.
- ✓ Tucker is a four-time AFC Special Teams Player of the Month, which ranks one more than legends S Ed Reed & K Matt Stover for the most POM awards in Ravens history. (Tucker has also earned seven AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors.) "Tuck" earned his fourth POM award in Nov. 2017, going 8-for-8 on FGAs and 6-for-6 on PATs.
- ✓ Tucker's 6 FGs on 12/16/13 at Det. set a team record and a single-game NFL high in 2013. Against the Lions, he became the first NFL kicker ever to connect from the 20-, 30-, 40-, 50- & 60-yard range in a game.
- ✓ Tucker's 93.7 career FG% when kicking on grass (104-of-111) ranks as the NFL's best of all time.
- ✓ Tucker's 92.5 career FG% (98-of-106) in the second half/overtime ranks as the NFL's best second half/OT mark of all time.

THE SECONDARY'S SERGEANT

A five-time Pro Bowler (including two as a Raven), S Eric Weddle's 29-career INTs rank third among active safeties. In his first year (2016) as a Raven, he produced a team-high 4 picks (tied, C.J. Mosley) and 89 tackles. In 2017, he posted 6 INTs (including 1 "pick-6"), ranking as a team best and tying (A.J. Bouye) for third overall in the NFL.

Weddle earned his first-ever AFC Defensive Player of the Week honor for his performance in 2017's Week 13 win over Detroit. In the game, he tallied 3 tackles, 1 strip-sack and a 45-yard interception return for a touchdown, leading the Ravens to a 44-20 victory.

2017 COMMUNITY RECAP

Throughout the 2017 season, Baltimore Ravens players, coaches, cheerleaders, mascot Poe and staff served the Baltimore community through a variety of outreach events and programs. By partnering with local schools, military groups and other non-profits, the Ravens continued their mission of serving their fans and being a positive force in their community.

PLAY 60

During the season, the Ravens hosted three PLAY 60 assemblies at local elementary and middle schools. Ravens players, including DB/LB Anthony Levine Sr., encouraged students to take part in 60 minutes of physical activity per day.

By hosting football clinics, Ravens players taught individuals the fundamental techniques of football. QB Joe Flacco and teammates took part in the team's PLAY 60 clinic with over 100 athletes from Special Olympics Maryland.

The Ravens hosted their annual NFL/United Way Hometown Huddle at the UA House Lafayette. Several players and mascot Poe joined nearly 100 school students for a morning of fun activities as part of the PLAY 60 initiative.

CRUCIAL CATCH: INTERCEPT CANCER

Over 100 cancer survivors participated in the Ravens' annual Sip N' Paint night at M&T Bank Stadium. DT Carl Davis and several teammates joined the survivors for an evening of fun, dining and an instructional painting class.

The Ravens recognized over 40 survivors of various forms of cancer during their Crucial Catch: Intercept Cancer game on October 15. During the game, fans were also encouraged to decorate signs to honor their loved ones battling cancer.

As part of their annual Crucial Catch Day, Ravens staff, cheerleaders and mascot Poe visited St. Agnes Hospital. The Ravens and American Cancer Society presented the hospital with a $50,000 grant donation to promote cancer screenings.

SALUTE TO SERVICE

Throughout the season, the Ravens continued their support for the military. In 2017, the Ravens stuffed over 200 care packages for military veterans and their families. For the first time this season, the Ravens also hosted a military combine challenge in which members from the four military branches competed for a chance to lead players onto the field prior to the Salute to Service game. All of the participants from the military combine received complimentary tickets to the game and took part in a special pre-game ceremony.

STEVE BISCOTTI PRESS CONFERENCE

Opening statement: "Alright, thank you. Thanks for coming. [Senior vice president of public and community relations] Kevin [Byrne] asked me to say ... Usually, I go right into questions, but Kevin asked me to say a couple things about the timing and the format [of this press conference], because he didn't want you to have to waste your one question on that. Why we waited a month? Because I wanted to, and I needed it. When we talked after the season, we had talked about [the annual planning meeting at my house in] Jupiter [Island, Florida], came up with a time that worked, for Eric [DeCosta] and Ozzie [Newsome] usually, with the Senior Bowl prep and all that – East-West [Game] – and it just made sense. I said I would rather do it afterwards. I would rather spend our time in Jupiter, and then I'll come back and talk. And it was at the Jupiter meeting that I told them that I really didn't want them up there [on stage for this press conference], because I knew that most of the questions would be for me, and it's kind of uncomfortable to sit up here and watch somebody else yap for 30 minutes. I think you'll get an opportunity ... I think you already talked to John [Harbaugh]. I will twist Ozzie's arm and get him in front of you at some time before the draft meeting that you never learn anything from anyway. So, commence, in probably the most important speech since my valedictorian back in '82. (laughter) So, let's go."

Steve, did you wrestle at all with the decision to bring back John Harbaugh, and maybe to a lesser degree, Ozzie Newsome, in the wake of the third-straight season in which you guys missed the postseason? (David Ginsburg) "Define 'wrestle.' Certainly, it was a thought. I was very proud of the way John kept fighting and held the team together when we were losing in the middle of the year. Joe [Flacco] was obviously producing at sub-standard [levels] with his back injury, and after the first couple of weeks, obviously, we were very encouraged by our defense and thought that could hold us together. We didn't perform very well in the middle of the year. I was proud of the way we fought back as a team. And so, it was certainly a consideration, but not one that I was inclined to make this year. Ozzie – no, but there's a caveat with Ozzie. We had talked after the 2013 season, and it was about Eric [DeCosta], and Ozzie agreed to re-do his contract for a five-year extension, in which case, he would turn over the 53-man roster to Eric, and that's a year away. Ozzie will step down as GM and has assured me that he's not going anywhere, and that he will work with me and work with Eric for a smooth transition, and he'll be the highest-paid scout in America when Eric takes over next year. So, I was not inclined to make a change in that [contract] we had worked on four years ago."

Steve, a big story is the empty seats at M&T Bank Stadium. What is your level of concern with the attendance, and how do you win fans back? Is it simply a matter of winning more? (Jeff Zrebiec) "I think that's the biggest one. You get to the playoffs six out of seven years, you win a playoff game all six of those years – which does not happen in the history of football very frequently ... So yes, I'm worried. I was worried – we talked about it last year; I think we talked about it two years ago, and it's still a concern. There are a lot of things to deal with. The one we can change right away is the experience, and we're constantly working on that. We're making a significant private investment in the stadium, and hopefully that's going to be part of the answer. But winning is key, and if we start winning and making the playoffs and we still have a problem ... The problem is throughout the NFL, it's not just here. So, am I disappointed in it? Yes, I'm disappointed in it. Concerned? Yes. If winning is what we need to do to fill the stadium up, then that's part and parcel with why we're here. We're here to win games, we're here to succeed, and when we fail, the no-shows are a way of telling us that our fans aren't pleased. So, we've got to win. And I hope that solves the majority of the problems."

Steve, you touched on Joe [Flacco] a little bit at the beginning, but you said last year that you were hoping that he would make progress – and I don't know how much of a factor his back was in all of this – but did you see the progress that you wanted out of him? And, with his age at 33 and the injuries that he's had, are there thoughts to start thinking about life after Joe? (Jamison Hensley) "I think that you can think about life after Joe, but most of the franchise quarterbacks ... I don't know of any franchise quarterbacks that are retiring at 33, 34, 35 anymore – none of them. Eli [Manning] and Ben [Roethlisberger] and our friend up in New England [Tom Brady], they're all staying [at] 35, 36, 37 – Drew Brees. So no, that's not really something that we're worried about right now. We've got bigger fish to fry, I guess. I don't consider that a big worry. We had Joe throwing a week before the regular season game, and I think that we were conservative. If you want to call it boring, we probably were boring. Part of that was protecting Joe and getting the ball out quickly, and it showed up in some pretty ugly offensive numbers. But, what we saw in him when our offensive line solidified and he got more comfortable in the pocket ... Obviously, if we could recreate the last half of the season, then I think we would maybe still be playing. We're a long way off to have to worry about Joe, I think."

Does the number of empty seats in the stadium this season impact at all how much influence you exercise in terms of getting playmakers you want to get in the offseason and in the draft, specifically wide receivers and other weapons on offense? (Gerry Sandusky) “Were you in Jupiter [Florida]?” (Reporter: “No, but I’ve been around long enough to know that was one of the topics.”) I think that there is a really good chance that we won’t be drafting a defensive tackle in the first round. I hear the criticism. I also know that we thought about that last year. But last year we were coming off of Mike Wallace having over 1,000 yards. We did get Jeremy Maclin and [Danny] Woodhead, which we thought diversified our offense, and we’re coming off of [Breshad] Perriman finally being healthy and producing 33 catches for 500 yards as a third wide receiver, which is industry standard, to say the least. Typically, we get 1,000 yards out of No. 1 and 800 yards out of No. 2 and 500 yards out of No. 3. If you look at our stats over the years since I’ve been here, that’s held true. We certainly had higher expectations for Perriman. If he had taken his third year and improved on his second year, which we were very pleased with 33 for 500 ... So he started to look like the player we were looking for. We’re going to have to go back into the till. One of my notes was, ‘Do not tamper,’ from Kevin [Byrne], because I’m not allowed to talk about people who are still under contract, even if the season is over. We will be exploring all options in free agency and in the draft for targets for Joe [Flacco].”

Related to Breshad Perriman, to what extent have high-round draft misses – Perriman or Matt Elam or Arthur Brown – affected the ability to build the roster and use resources for future high draft picks to replace with people that didn’t develop like you hoped? (Bo Smolka) “It’s statistically significant, there’s no doubt about it. When you fail on those picks, it costs you. It costs you in wins and losses, and it costs you in salary cap. Every one of those players that have underperformed in the early rounds, you can take a look at our roster and see where we have filled in with high-price people in response to their underperformance. It is significant. We spent a lot of time in Jupiter [Florida] talking about that, and we’ve come up with a couple things we think are instructive. If you look back, I don’t think anybody has had a better draft past those first few rounds. We’ve got three of the five first-round picks that are doing very well for us. When you look at the later rounds, I don’t think anyone has done as much as we have. We try to dig into that and figure out why. When you talk about that Elam and Brown draft, and you back it up with Brandon Williams, Kyle Juszczyk and Ricky Wagner in rounds three, four, and five, we salvaged the draft. If you just flip them into different spots and you were three out of five, that’s what your typical NFL team is going to get; three starters out of the draft. It is significant, but if you look at the last couple of years of getting guys like Willie Henry and [Matthew] Judon ... People like that, Ricky Wagner, being one of them in the fifth round; [John] Urschel and [Ryan] Jensen in the fourth and sixth round, we are very encouraged. But I think while we were down there and talking about it, there were two significant things: One of them was reported recently about the loss of senior scouts in the last year, which is again, always indicative of success. I’m proud of those guys and I’m happy for them, but we don’t play the carousel game with the Ravens. Since Ozzie came in here, he has brought in young people and developed them over many, many, many years to become really good scouts. When we lost those scouts, we didn’t necessarily go out and hire equal scouts to replace them, and I think that was a mistake. I think that in retrospect you can say that you can’t lose those three scouts with 30 years of experience between the three of them and then hire 25-year-olds that are ready to give it the old try. I just said to Eric [DeCosta]: ‘Just go back through and tell me the amount of years of experience in the staffing department, cut you and Ozzie [Newsome] out, and let me see the amount of experience that’s in our scouting department.’ I think that it shows that we have not done a very good job of filling in senior people with senior people. That’s something we are going to address starting right now and hopefully rebuild that on the fly, because we can’t wait for 25-year-olds to get as good as good as Joe Douglas was at 36. That’s one thing. The other one is that I – and this may be my theory – I may have spoken so much that I haven’t given them a chance to tell me that they think it’s hogwash, but I also think we do such a good job of getting these scouts involved. If you saw our grading system and you were in the draft-prep meetings, you would see that there’s a case to be made that we may get too many opinions about the top players in the draft. So, if you’re talking the first three rounds, that’s 96 players. We almost always get our three players in our Top 60 picks, not 96. That’s the same with every team because everybody has their favorites. If you look at those Top 60 players, I think they’ve been over-analyzed.”

I want to ask about something that really didn’t happen during the game; it was before the game. The ramifications from the London stands where players decided to kneel during the national anthem and then stand during God Save the Queen. I can’t tell you how many times I’ve heard it over and over from the fans about how outraged they were about this. What do you feel like the vibrations and ramifications from that are affecting the franchise, and did it affect the franchise in terms of attendance, popularity and the relevance of the Ravens, and the hit that maybe the team took? We haven’t heard from you about it. (Jerry Coleman) “Well, I do think it’s significant, and I do think that it hurt and insulted a lot of our fan base. And I understand that, but I also am supportive of my players. And you know, I think that was the only time that we ever did kneel. Is that correct? (Yes.) And there have been others on teams before and after that continued to do it. With anything, and then obviously, it was the night before that we got a tweet that I think basically challenged them, I wish I would have known about it the night before. Would I have gone to the meeting and given my two cents? I probably would have. And I may have been successful, because I got to talk to guys like Terrell Suggs, and I talked to Ben Watson on the field 30 or 45 minutes before the game. I had a one-minute conversation with each of them. There was no time for me to tell them what I thought and what I thought would be an opportunity for them to look for an alternative. So, I'm not pleased with it. But again, it's going on throughout the league, so I don't know if that affected attendance everywhere else. I'm not going to put that on our attendance, because we were talking about attendance last year. So, I just am not going to say that that is the main issue. I'm very proud of players like Malcolm Jenkins and Anquan Boldin who realized that they were kind of being misinterpreted and that it was time for action and it was time for progress. They made the initiative to go and meet with the league and meet with the NFL and some of the owners. Things got better, I think, because of people like Anquan and Malcolm that said, 'This is what we're fighting for, and we need you to address it'. I think America needs to address it, and I think that the NFL has always been proactive. I'm a little disappointed that the league wasn't proactive on that issue. I would've liked to have seen them [be more proactive], and I wish the players had gone to the league before this season started, because I think that we could have possibly come up with better solutions than that. Regardless of the fact that it's constitutionally protected, it's still insulting to a lot of Americans. And so, I sure wish that we had done a better job of dealing with that issue in the [2017] offseason. That's a regret that I'll always have."

If you don't get to the playoffs next season, do you bring in a new head coach? And two, what do you see in offensive coordinator Marty Mornhinweg that earned him the right to come back with your organization as its offensive coordinator after you said the offense was boring? (Mike Preston) "In the first half, right? I said it was boring in the first half, and then we were the second-leading scoring team in the second half." (Reporter: "Against bad teams.") "Against bad teams? I didn't know there were bad teams, Mike. But, I'll take your word for it. We've gone through four offensive coordinators in the last five years, and Joe [Flacco] was comfortable with his relationship with Marty, and they produced in the second half of the year. So, when John [Harbaugh] wanted to keep him, then I backed him." (Reporter: "If the team doesn't make it to the playoffs next season, will you bring in a new head coach?") "I'll see you next year. I'm not going to give a 'playoff or bust' edict to you all, or to my coach. He's under as much pressure, probably, than he's ever been in his life, and I expect him to keep his chin up and take his positivity and his talents and make the most of this season. I may as well replace him now if I'm going to tell him, 'Make the playoffs or you're out of town next year.' That's just not the way to run a business."

During your conversations in Jupiter [Florida], is the salary cap going to be more prohibitive than in recent years in your ability to go out and make some moves this offseason? (Ryan Mink) "Not really. Not this year. We've done a lot with a little. But, like always, you re-negotiate contracts to create space, which we probably will do a little bit of that again this year. You're hopefully doing it with people like Brandon Williams, who you know are going to be here. But it is a trick of the trade, and everybody does it, and it's in our contract language. It didn't used to be; now it is. They get more money up front. They're not doing anybody a favor by restructuring their deal – the great misnomer. We'll do what we have to do to fill our roster through the draft and through free agency. We've got some money, and we can create some more, so I'm not too worried about that right now. I think that what we figured out between what we have and what we can get, I think that we can make a splash and help us on the way to getting our offense clicking better."

I was just curious what the organization's response was to Dean Pees re-emerging as a defensive coordinator? Was it a forgone conclusion that last season would be his last? (Brett Hollander) "I heard about that. I heard about [possible retirement] last year, and I even asked John [Harbaugh] in December, because I kept hearing everyone else speculate about it. I wasn't 100-percent sure that he was retiring this year, to be honest with you. But I had heard that all the way back in the '16 season. I just got in last night, so I don't really know what the organization's feeling is about him reemerging. He took the place of maybe the greatest defensive coordinator of all time in Dick LeBeau. You're talking about this coaching carousel that keeps going around and around – and to each his own; it happens all the time. Gosh, the majority of these people, it is ... They call it a coaching carousel for a reason. It's the same people. They keep switching. The music stops, you grab a chair and you're back in a position. They get fired, they get demoted, then they get promoted, then they find themselves back in that position. I wish Dean all the luck. I understand he got his son in; I think that was a big point of his. We have a nepotism rule that may have prohibited that from happening in the last few years. But, I'm happy for him. I'm a little shocked; he's 68 years old, I think. It's hard to give it up, I guess. He's going to work. But based on what [the media] have written about, it sounds like you weren't too upset to see him leave, and then he shows back up. He's obviously well-respected in the league. [Tennessee head coach Mike] Vrabel [played] for him. I'll root for them when they're not playing us."

Do you have any thought to doing what the Falcons did with their concessions? (Vinny Cerrato) "Yeah, I have thought about it. Unfortunately, we're in a contract that we would have to renegotiate with them. I guess [Falcons owner and chairman Arthur Blank] was getting to start new with his new stadium. But yeah, obviously, it's not a great driver of income for us. It's something I would really like to take a hard look at, and at least, come up with select items that we can do. If it means us ... I can't make Aramark do that with me, but I can make them go along as long as it's my share of the profits that I'm waving. Yeah, I'd like to take a look at that. I think we could probably do that."

I'm just wondering if any point in your business career – non-football – you were in a similar situation? Looking around, seeing some things you like, maybe some things you wanted to improve upon? If so, did that experience, looking back on it, offer you any guidance in how to proceed here? (John Eisenberg) "It's much the same, to be honest with you. I think in my years of running the business, we had two recessions – in '99 and then back in the early '90s. So, we did have layoffs at the time, and that got us an opportunity to reset. It was painful. I know that some of you wish that I was sitting here talking about that. I understand and respect you guys for what you do, and what you think and your itchy trigger fingers. I really do; I get it. But I also think if you're honest with yourself, it's rather self-serving, because if I had fired everybody, then you guys would have 10,000 new articles to write, and it would make your job a whole lot more fun than sitting here listening to me talk about continuity. Everything that I have experienced in my life, I bring to the table. I try to make decisions that have some history, but they don't necessarily have to be based on history, because every tough decision I ever made was probably for the first time, and then that goes into the history books for me to pull from in the future."

With one playoff appearance in the last five years, do you worry that stability has given way to stagnancy? (Ed Lee) "Stagnant? That's for you guys to decide. I don't think we're stagnant at 1 Winning Drive. I think we are as enthused as we've always been. Disappointed, embarrassed and determined – but not stagnant."

In the 2013 season you went 8-8 after you won the Super Bowl, and obviously you're not going to win the Super Bowl every year, but this is not typically the standard that you want going forward. Are you surprised now to be up here saying that these are your guys and you're loyal to them – that you're moving forward with them and then lead them? (Pete Gilbert) "It wouldn't even be a question if we had stopped Pittsburgh in '16 and Cincinnati in '17. That's the thing – it wouldn't be an issue. We're literally looking at a few moments of time that went against us, versus the crazy things that went for us in the Super Bowl year. We're living with fourth-and-12 now. We used to live with fourth-and-29. So, we're living with the Bengals doing that to us, instead of Jacoby Jones doing it to Denver. We're not talking about 4-12 seasons here. We're talking about a franchise quarterback that had a herniated disc and was not healthy for the first half of the year. There are a couple games that we should have won, that we wouldn't have been sitting there. We might've been resting our starters against Cincinnati, and that's our goal next year."

We have talked a lot about the offense, but when you guys are having your meetings in Jupiter, do you guys feel like the defense is pretty much set? (Garrett Downing) "Well, from a personnel standpoint it is. I am looking for increased production from some people, but we did not have a spot for Marlon [Humphrey], and then desperately needed for him to hold things together there at the end. It started with Tavon [Young] and [Jaylen] Hill and Jimmy [Smith] and [Maurice] Canady. We dealt with a monster load that would have been like Groundhog Day if it was not for [Humphrey's emergence]. And we talked 'Webby' [Lardarius Webb] into coming back, and he filled a nice role for us while Canady was hurt. So, had we not gotten Marlon Humphrey in the first round, things could have gotten really ugly for us in that back end like it had in the past. That is why we took Marlon in the first place, even though we had both corner spots locked up. We also were horrible sacking the quarterback last year, and we were determined to improve on that, but we got every snap out of [Matthew] Judon and Za'Darius [Smith]. Had Suggs or Judon gone down, then the kids we took in the second and third round [Tyus Bowser and Tim Williams] would have gotten a lot more snaps. We thought we had taken a B-plus and turned it into an 'A' by concentrating the early rounds on defense, and it did until a couple fateful plays and drives. We have a lot of depth on defense. We have a lot of young kids that are ready to produce. Some of them come back healthy, so yes, I think you can be assured that the majority of our attention will be on offense this year."

What does it mean to you that Ray Lewis may go into the Hall of Fame tomorrow? (Jordan Schatz) "It is awesome. Obviously, there is nobody more deserving. He made people around him better, which is the greatest compliment that you can give anybody in football, and he clearly was that guy. Jonathan [Ogden] was our first pick, he is the first one in. Ray is the second pick in Ravens history, and he is the second one in. We have another one, [Terrell Suggs] wrapping up his career with double-digit sacks at a very advanced age. I think he will be looking at that, and Ed Reed will probably be in before that. We have a nice string of them going in there."

This is probably a question we ask almost every year, but we speak to you generally once a year. Just checking in on your level of passion and enthusiasm for owning an NFL team, especially in the light of some of the struggles over the last three years. Where do you stand with that, and are you looking long range to maintain what you have here? (Mark Viviano) "Yes, my passion is still there. You said passion and enthusiasm? My passion is still there. My fans lose their enthusiasm for it, right? I hate losing, and my fans hate losing. They get angry and say things they say they shouldn't, and I get angry and say things that I shouldn't, too. Luckily, I don't do it in front of the microphone, usually. No, I have not changed. I am very comfortable where I am. I am here for the foreseeable future."

Steve, before we started here, you kind of joked this was your most important speech since high school? (Shawn Stepner) "No, valedictorian in college. Actually, I told my mom that day, I did not even want her to come to Salisbury. I did not want to go, and she said, 'No, I put you through school. I am coming to your graduation.' I said, 'If it goes by alphabetical, you will be out early. If it goes by GPA, you are in for a long day.'" (laughter)

On a serious note, how much do you think this franchise is at a crossroads, given no playoffs in three years and maybe not as feared as it once was? (Shawn Stepner) "What is a crossroad? I do not even know what you mean by a crossroad. I either keep John [Harbaugh] or I fire John. I promote Eric [DeCosta] to GM, and Joe [Flacco] has a shelf life at 33 years old. I don't even know what you mean by that, and that is what you guys [the media] talk about. I don't know what you mean by that. Crossroad to what?" (Reporter: "Along the lines of maybe around the league, the Ravens on the field are not as feared as they once were. Your reaction?") "I don't even know how to ... I'm sorry. I don't know. I will have to call some coaches and ask them if they are scared of me. That is just silly."

Going back to the decision on Ozzie Newsome for next year, and Eric DeCosta taking over. Just logically, Eric has been a part of this decision-making process throughout this last five years. What is it about Eric that maintains your confidence in having him take care of you? (Peter Schmuck) "Everything, everything. I think he has learned from Ozzie. I think he is a great leader of the scouts. It is Ozzie's department, but most of the interaction with all the scouts is with Eric. I have seen the way he goes about the business. I have seen the way he has embraced technology and analytics, and I like working with him. I think that is pretty evident by the fact that we are getting called every single year to try and get him, and it is just a matter of it is time. There are people that are running other franchises that got the jobs because Eric would not take it. This year, it was the Packers. To me, that is the best job in the NFL. Working for me is the second best, but working for no owner is the best, and that is what the Packers offer that nobody else does. I think that if I was going to let Eric go I was going to certainly let him go for the Packers job, because I think it is a really cool job."

More on this decision on Ozzie? (Peter Schmuck) "No, that's what I'm saying. Ozzie's decision was made four years ago. Eric knew it all going in; he just wanted to make sure that the deal was still there when the Packers called, because obviously, it probably interested him more than any other job."

Steve, as we've talked to key players from the last Super Bowl team, several of them have said that they perceive the falter came over the last five years because some strong, independent voices have disappeared from the locker room. Do you think that is a fair criticism at all? (Childs Walker) "No. No, I really don't. You can't replace Hall of Famers. You can try, but the two Hall of Famers that were here five years ago were both picked at the end of the first round. I don't know who else ... I mean, who else are you talking about with strong voices?" (Reporter: "Anquan Boldin is an example. Ed Reed and Ray Lewis are the obvious ones.") "Anquan was quiet as a mouse. I don't see him as a strong personality. Stronger than Mike Wallace? I don't think Anquan Boldin's personality as any stronger than Mike Wallace's or Steve Smith's. Steve Smith took over for Anquan Boldin, and he's the one you bring up? I don't think so. If you brought the three of them in and had dinner with them, I don't think you'd walk out and go, 'God, that Anquan won't shut up.'" (laughter)

Steve, you brought up before the absence of some of the fans at the games and you noticed it before the anthem issues involving the Ravens. I'm wondering how much time in Jupiter (Florida) was spent on talking about how to re-engage the fans? And are there any specifics that you can site other than you think if you win, fans are going to be there? (Stan Charles) "Like I said, that's the only one that I can't do a thing about until next year. The renovations, but that's not something that I think is ... That's not something that I'm going to waste my time in Jupiter with. That's something that we'll literally start with now, but that's more Kevin [Byrne] and Dick [Cass] than it is Ozzie [Newsome] and Eric [DeCosta] and Pat [Moriarty]. We need an exciting brand of football, and we need to win. But, New Orleans has a really, really exciting brand of football that went 7-9 three years in a row. It didn't help them. Exciting doesn't necessarily mean wins, and we have been a defense-dominant team since I've been here, since long before I bought the team. And we want to keep that, because we don't want people not to be scared of us, so we're going to keep working on that, to keep scaring people."

Are you satisfied with the way the league has addressed concussions, and how much do you think that has played into fan attendance league-wide? (Kirk McEwen) "I don't think it affects fan attendance. Do you? I can't say that I've heard anybody say, 'I'm giving up my tickets, because I can't stand to see the hitting.' I'm pleased with it, because we're making progress. We are obviously taking it serious, and the reported concussions are up. I understand the concussions were up, but you have to understand, that that is a cause and effect that there are so many concussions. I think they rose this year from the last few years – not significantly – but I think the evaluation process is probably doubled to increase the concussions by 10 or 20 percent. So, I'm pleased with it. The more you pull players off the field, the more you are going to affect one very significant game, and I understand that they're moving from the [injury] tent to the locker room if they are unsteady on their feet or something, they immediately have to go to the locker room. So, I think all of that is good. We've had more significant issues of people questioning why he wasn't – like Cam Newton – why he wasn't checked out thoroughly, than the opposite. So far it hasn't hurt the game, and I think overall, it's certainly what we have to embrace going forward. So, yes, I'm pleased with everything the league is doing."

Is there any update on a change in ticket pricing, and have you thought about maybe even lowering them? (Jeff Zrebiec) "No, I haven't discussed lowering them. I like Vinny [Cerrato's concession price reduction question] deal – I give them free hot dogs instead. I am not lowering tickets. I think we've only increased twice in the last 10 years, so we're a few years away from having to do that again."

When you look at the five years since the Super Bowl team, would you describe that period as the most challenging during the time you have been associated with the Ravens? (Childs Walker) "No. No, actually, not at all. I would say '02, '03, '04, '05, '06, '07 was definitely worse. No. 1, I didn't have a franchise quarterback. We tried with Kyle [Boller]; we tried with Steve McNair. We had a playoff year with both of them in those five years, I guess, right? But no, this is not as challenging. I don't think so. I've still got people that I'm confident in."

Will you give me the definition of a catch? I was in the league for 20 years, and I still don't know what a catch is. (Vinny Cerrato) "Stupid. (shakes his head) The whole thing is stupid. I heard Roger's [Goodell] thing. I heard the whole objective/subjective thing. I agree with it. Start over. It's just ridiculous. It's making these ... Every time you've talked about referees, I've always defended them. It is such a hard job, they do such a good job, and yet we're sitting there looking at five different HD camera angles, and then they're changing some things, and I think it's worse than it's ever been. I think sometimes things have to get really, really bad before there is change. I bet you that there is going to be a significant change in that. A football move? I mean, how you can catch the ball, get both feet down, turn towards the end zone and start diving for it, and they say it's not a football move? No. It's stupid."

JOHN HARBAUGH SEASON REVIEW PRESS CONFERENCE

Opening statement: “It is good to see everybody. I appreciate you guys being here, as always. I am excited about having a chance to wrap things up. We have done that with our players. We are in the process of doing that with our coaches, in terms of the season and then planning ahead, in terms of what we are going to do for the next days, weeks, months and year to become the best team we can be going forward. Just as far as the way the season went – I’ll capsulize it a little bit. In the end, when it is all said and done, you look at your people and the job they did. You try to look at it from a lens of every kind of perspective that you possibly can – as a leader – and say, ‘Hey, you know what? How did we do in the end?’ Individually, how did we do? How did we do as a group? How did we work together? How did we compete? How did we handle adversity? How did we respond to triumphs and disasters and all of those different things that happened over the course of a football season or life? I have had a chance to do that, and in the end, I am really proud of our people. I am really proud of the organization [and] the way we fought. I feel like our players ... There was no drag on anything we did all year from April 15 through this week. We had a bunch of veteran leaders that came to work every day with one thing in mind: to be the very best they can be and to help the people around them be the best they could be. We had a bunch of young guys that did not concern themselves with things that young guys do sometimes, but concerned themselves with being the very best that they could be, take the leadership that the vets were giving them, that the coaches were giving them and try to be the best players they could be for this football team. In the end, that is what you ask for people. I am happy with that; I am proud of that. I feel good about our people, and I am excited about where we are going forward. That is where we are at.”

You say that you look through the lens a lot of different ways. How do you assess a team that played against so many No. 2 quarterbacks? Is that part of the analysis of how your team did this year? (Stan Charles) “It is an interesting way of looking at things, and that is different every year. Every year, you face different situations. You face great running games, you face top defenses, or you face great pass rushers. Some years you face more than other years. That will be part of it when we look at the Xs and Os part of it, in terms of how we build our defense going forward. We do not look at it to assess [and say], ‘Hey we are good [or] we are not good.’ All of those stats are not quite as good as you think you are. You had 47 or 41 or whatever number of sacks we had. It doesn’t not count because of who you played or the offensive line that you played or anything like that. I think that you take it as a whole, and you try to look at it that way. As far as detailing all the little issues out, we will do that with tape. We will do that with our conversations about each player, each scheme that we have and try to tweak it, adjust it, improve it and get better wherever we can. If we face a slew of All-Pro quarterbacks next year, we will have to be ready to stop those guys, and it will not be an excuse if we don’t – that we faced great quarterbacks. You take it as it comes, I think.”

Have you made a determination on who will be your offensive and defensive coordinators next year? (Jamison Hensley) “Yes. We are not making changes. If guys get opportunities to go somewhere and do some different things, we will see how that goes over the next couple of weeks. I think that is something you deal with every year. Dean [Pees] is obviously retiring. I put a statement out on that and have just a lot of love for Dean Pees and a lot of respect for Dean. The job he did here over eight years, I think was just tremendous. The record speaks for itself, in terms of the defense that we played. It is not without adversity or challenges, obviously, but every team faces that. The rest of it – we will build from there. I will find a defensive coordinator somewhere, inside or out. We are in the process of doing that right now. But I am happy with the coaches that we have on defense and offense. We are building going forward.”

I know we asked you during the bye week, but I am going to ask you this again. What are you seeing from the offense and Marty Mornhinweg being in charge of that tells you, “This is improving. This is getting better.” What gives you confidence that is the right decision? (Luke Jones) “Well, first of all, you look at who is coaching for you and what we are doing. I am going to tell you what, I have said this all along – I’m not going to change it – we have great coaches. The creativity that I saw and ways that we schemed guys open, schemed run game, schemed pass game, schemed plays to be created, I was happy with that. You can look at the stats, and I can give them to you if you want; I happened to bring a few in, because I am not really a stat guy. The bottom line is that we improved tremendously, and we faced a great deal of adversity on offense. I am not going to stand up here and make excuses, but there were a lot of tough situations that we faced on offense. You deal with those things as they come, and you try to find a way to win the next game, whether it is the quarterback does not go through training camp, or both your guards get hurt, or whatever it might be along those lines. You have to find a way to win the next game the best way you can, and we did that. Sometimes it meant trying to win a game a certain way. Other times it meant, ‘Hey, let’s try to scheme up some plays and scheme some guys open and things like that.’ But at the end – over the last half of the season – we are the second-highest scoring offense in the league. That is not something that you take lightly. What we talk to our players about and what we talk to our coaches about and something that I believe personally is that you put everything you have in to getting a little bit better every single day. We talk about 1 percent better – that is a way of visualizing what it takes. What does it take to get 1 percent better every day? It takes everything that you have – every ounce of energy, expertise, ability to overcome adversity, because there are a lot of things that are going to break you down. You have to overcome those things. If somebody gets hurt, you have to overcome it and get 1 percent better. You have to find a way to build around those things. You do it against a bunch of opponents that are very talented that are trying to do the same thing. That is the challenge and the drama of the National Football League. Our guys did that. That is what we did. I understand what kind of offense we are capable of building. To me, we are in a process right now – the process of building a football team that has been taking place since 2015 – 2015, 2016 and 2017 through the draft, because it is a young players' league, in terms of the way the cap works. We have drafted well for the most part. We have drafted a lot of good players here. Have we made mistakes? Sure. Everybody makes mistakes here and there, and you have to overcome those mistakes. I believe in these coaches. I understand the job that they did this year because I see it close up. I think our offense made a heck of a lot of progress, especially considering the adversity that we faced and the challenges we were up against this year. That is why we are rolling."

With your salary cap situation being so low, how important is it with the draft coming up to not just hit on your first-round pick, but multiple picks, and could there be changes with personnel with people making decisions at that level? (Jerry Coleman) "You mean as far as the players that we bring in and changing players on our team and things like that?" (Reporter: "Yes, and the decision-makers. Would you like to be involved in personnel and maybe more involved in choosing?" "We have a great system here. I appreciate the question, because I think it is a fair question. Our system and the way we do it, I love it. Ozzie [Newsome] and I have a phenomenal relationship. We work every single day to be the best that we can be. He helps me, and I help him. He is involved in football, and I am involved in personnel. We understand each other's areas, and we work together. That is the way that it has to work. I will be involved in personnel to whatever degree I can to help the best I can, because I understand the roster. I understand how we want to fill the roster and how we can make the team better more than anybody does. I will watch all the players, and I will understand who the players are. But also, we have great evaluators, and we will lean on those evaluators. That part of it – it will be very important. We have to draft well. We have to do a great job of bringing in guys that can make our team better. There are going to be specific areas that I will be looking to bolster on the roster for sure, and Ozzie feels the same way."

Is offense one of those areas, maybe wide receivers and tight ends? (Jerry Coleman) "Absolutely. We want to get playmakers. That is something that we need. I do not think it is any secret that we need to add playmakers to the mix, and we have playmakers. We have young ... One thing we told our young guys ... Our young guys were sitting in those chairs. We broke the team meeting and had the young guys come down to the front, the first-, second- and third-year players. It was amazing how many of them there were, first of all. I said, 'Look around. You guys are the foundation of this football team, and here is what needs to be done between now and when we come back in April. You need to be a better player. You need to be a much better player April 15 than you are right now. That is not going to be here. You are not going to do it by coming to practice every single day.' They did a great job every single day applying that, but [I said], 'I need you to apply that from now until when we come back – whatever area it is.' Then, we have talked to individual guys about that area, including strength and conditioning, route-running, catching the ball. [I said], 'All of the things that you can do to be a better player, you have to do.' I fully expect our players to do that, but with that goes the fact that we are going to add players. It is not to say that we can't add some players through free agency. That is the way that the salary cap has worked, and the draft will be a major part of that, sure."

Owner Steve Bisciotti said last year that you needed QB Joe Flacco to be better. In your opinion, was he better this year, and can you assess his play overall? (Shawn Steptner) "I do not know that it is a fair comparison one year to the next. I know Joe has dealt with injuries the last two years. When you look at it objectively ... Again, during the season, we are not going to stand up there during the season and make excuses. Joe certainly is not going to do that; he never does that. But he is coming off a major knee surgery in 2016, and in 2017, now, he tweaks his back two weeks before training camp and missed all of training camp. To say that was not a factor in our passing game early combined with the personnel issues that we had there, it just wouldn't be fair to Joe. Joe did a great job of fighting through that, and really, I would say Marty [Mornhinweg] did a great job of getting Joe from week to week, because it was not like you come back there the first week, and he is ready to throw himself 100 percent in to a bunch of grinding work, and yet, he missed all of training camp work as well. We had to kind of work him back in week to week and make sure he was capable of performing, that he could go out there and make it through a game from one week to the next. I think Joe did a great job that way. As far as numbers and things like that, the first half of the season to the second half of the season was dramatic. To me, it speaks to what I am talking about. I think the number of interceptions, the touchdown passes, those kind of things, it is just a dramatic turnaround. It definitely speaks to his health. The other thing Joe did a great job of was he protected the football in the pocket. We had no sack-fumbles all year. He got the ball out. Maybe sometimes he got the ball out quick, but I think he was under duress a lot of times early in the year when we lost both of our guards. He did a good job of managing that situation, and I feel like towards the second half of the season, we were completing some more balls downfield. The fact that he protected the ball in the pocket and did not take very many sacks, speaks very well to the season that he had."

Is there a concern about QB Joe Flacco's mechanics? Is bringing in a quarterback coach a possibility, or do you still like having Marty Mornhinweg to have that direct interaction? (Jeff Zrebiec) "We will figure that out. I think that is a good question, and we will try to work that the best way we can. You want that to be streamlined; you want everybody to be on the same page. You do not want friction. You do not want a clash of philosophies or anything like that. That goes with Joe being a major part of that, because you are talking about a veteran quarterback. It is a little different than any other veteran quarterback. He is a big part of that process – what is best for him. If we can do that, we will do that, and I am kind of working through some of that right now. As far as his mechanics and all that, when you miss training camp and you are working with a back tweak, I think all that being considered, Joe's mechanics were pretty good. Can they be better? If I can go play by play and break it all down, anybody who knows anything about the position, any coach can look at it and say, 'Hey, you know what? He is throwing off his back foot,' or, 'He should have had his toe pointed here.' Or [they could say], 'His elbow dropped a little bit.' That is not hard to look at and see. The difficult part, the challenging part, is to look at the 'whys' of it. Why is it happening? Play by play, we have done that. The vast majority of the time, Joe's mechanics and the throws he made – for the situation he faced play to play – were pretty darn good. He made some throws off of his back foot with guys in his face at times that were great throws, that were very accurate throws. Yes, there were times where he missed, for sure. I think a whole training camp, a whole offseason of continuing to work on those things going into a season are going to make it better going into the season. He needs a healthy training camp and a healthy OTAs and all of that to be his best, just like any player does. I am excited about that going into next year."

Are you more hands-on with QB Joe Flacco in the offseason as far as what he works out so he does not have a setback physically? (Todd Karpovich) "Well, the rules are the rules. Joe is a good training guy; he works hard. He has certain plans for certain times of the year. I do not know the exact dates of where he is going to be and when he is going to be back here and things like that. That is something that we will talk about probably in the next few weeks. There are certain things he is not allowed to do here in the building, and that is a little bit tough. It used to be quarterbacks would come in throughout most of the offseason, and they would work those mechanics with their coach, and they would work film study and they would work on helping build the system with the coaches. They just do not allow you to do that now. That is just the way it is. It is for everybody. That is the rule for everybody, so we have to work around those rules a little bit, too."

With the injuries to QB Joe Flacco over the last two years, will you look to get a quarterback in the draft? (Mike Preston) "I think that is a fair question. It is something that we will talking about for sure. Every position, certain positions are going to be more important than others, but when you have a veteran quarterback at this stage, that is the time you are always looking for a young backup. I do not think that jeopardizes Joe at all. He is our guy, and I am excited about our chances next year having a great season, and Joe is too. If we draft a quarterback, if it turns out to be the thing we do, it is only going to make our team stronger."

Understanding the goal every year is to make the playoffs, to win a Super Bowl... You have fallen short of that now three-straight years. What has been Steve Bisciotti's reaction now to you regarding that recent record and expectations going forward? (Mark Viviano) "Steve is great. He is a great leader. He is a great friend and a great mentor. Our relationship is built on the fact that he makes me better every single day as a leader. We also have become really close over the years just as friends. When you get to a point like that and you have that kind of a relationship, you can talk about everything. You can drill deep in every area and you can be honest with each other. Sometimes ... He allows me to say, 'Hey, no, Steve, think about it this way.' Certainly, he [says], 'John, rethink that. Look at it from this other perspective and see what you think.' That is the great thing about our relationship. He wants to be successful, he wants to win, and I think both of us – this is to me something that goes through Ozzie [Newsome] and something that we will push through the whole organization; it is the way our people feel – it is that our focus is on tomorrow. Our focus is on, 'Can we be better tomorrow than we were today?' That is just the truth of it. What are we going to do to make ourselves better? What coaching ... How are we going to set the coaching staff up? What schemes are we going to build? How are we going to set our blitz package up a little bit better? How are we going to play our two-deep coverages better? How are we going to develop our players better? Today, tomorrow, this week, this month – what are we going to do for the next three months? How are we going to handle the draft? To me, that is our focus. It is not looking back and saying, ‘Hey, we did not do this,’ or, ‘We did do that.’ Everybody is full-speed ahead to be the best we can be and has been for the last three years. How do you second-guess that? Football is tough. It is a drama. There are things ... They do not write a script. They did not write a script for the Bengals game. We went out there, and we did not play a very good first half. It is kind of like the first half of our season. We did not do the things that we needed to do to get a lead. We find ourselves behind. We return a kickoff, are you kidding me? We take a kickoff back with 30 seconds left in the half down to the 5-yard line and then score a touchdown and get ourselves right back in the game. And we are ticked at ourselves at halftime for how poorly we played. That is football. It is the way it works. It is not perfect. They played exceptionally well. We come out in the second half, and we fight our butts off. We scratch, we claw, we get the run stopped. We crack a few runs here and there. We make a couple of passes. We catch the ball better. We find a way to make a couple of plays, and we get the lead. We get a couple first downs, we punt it down there, and our gunner does a great job of knocking their corner into the returner, just like you dream about, just like you coach guys to do. The ball comes out and it goes straight out of bounds with guys scrambling after it. If it takes a little different angle, we win it right there. We come out, and we are scrambling, we are fighting. We are trying to get them stopped. We get a call here, we get a call there, the game could be over right there. That is the way it goes. We get into a fourth-and-12 situation, we get into a coverage that we think has a chance. We do not play it exceptionally well. It is a little bit of a safer coverage. It is a coverage built for that down and distance, and he moves around the pocket a little bit and drops one in there, and your heart is broken. That is football. Nobody writes a script. You do not get a chance to decide how the script is going to be written. That is all you can do. That is the human reality of the whole thing. To me, that is why it is great, and that is why it is so tough. We have been on the other side, too. We have made that pass. We have made that miracle happen. We have done it this year in games. We are going to do it again. That is where this team is going; that is what we are building. Because we have heart, we have courage, we have character. We have a bunch of guys that love football. We know what type of guys we want to have here playing for us. We understand our city, we understand our fans. We understand what they respect, and we want nothing more than to get it there where we can have that moment, where we can complete that pass and have the whole city go crazy and be dancing in the streets. That is what we are fighting for. I wanted it to happen this year. I wanted it to be the miracle year this year. Maybe we could have done it, and then all of a sudden, it is not to be. OK. Are we going to lament it and look back and beat ourselves up and find reasons that are not there and point fingers? That is not what I am going to do. That is not what leaders do. Let’s go to work.”

The drama you just described and the friendship that you described with owner Steve Bisciotti, in that, is there an added sense of urgency about where you stand right now relative to where you’ve been, even though you’re going forward? (Mark Viviano) “I don’t know if I follow.” (Reporter: “Is there a greater sense of having to make those plays now going forward, given that the expectations haven’t been met here recently?”) “Not for me, because it couldn’t be any greater. It couldn’t be any greater now than it was last year, or last week, or four years ago, or eight years ago, or 10 years ago or 20 years ago when I was coaching special teams for the first time in Philadelphia. That sense of urgency is on full blast every single day, and if it’s not, you can’t make it in this business. It continues. All these things that you go through, I think it steels you, it makes you tougher, it makes you more experienced, it makes you better, and it fuels you.”

President Dick Cass sent a letter to season ticket holders earlier this season. What would your message be to a fan has that has been disenchanted? There were boos at the end of the first half with the way the offense was playing. What would your message be to the fanbase at this juncture? (Bo Smolka) “I think I kind of just said it. As far as boos, we play in stadiums all around the [league], and you hear that all the time – that’s sports. It’s even in college sports now, probably more than ever before. It’s definitely part of pro sports, always has been. That doesn’t bother me one bit. I want to earn the right to have [the fans] cheering and have them going crazy. I love our fans. Our fans are great. Those fans, in the last few games in our stadium, they were loud, and they were into it. To me, that’s what I care about. I think they have great passion. I think they love football. I think they want to see us be really good. I think they’re tough people. That’s what I love about Baltimore and their fans. Let’s get it going again! Let’s make it exciting. We’ll do that by playing great football. As far as our team goes ... Is that your question? What I want to tell them about our team?” (Reporter: “It’s a fairly crisis situation with how a lot of the fans are feeling. Obviously, the organization feels that way, with Dick Cass taking the steps of writing a letter to the PSL owners. Just kind of getting the organizational temperature for the fan base.”) “That’s a great question. From my perspective, I’m a coach.

That's the perspective you have as the coach. The broad-based stuff and the things that Dick put in the letter were awesome and honest. One thing about this organization is it's honest. This organization doesn't go into its shell. This organization doesn't hide. This organization doesn't not say anything. This organization comes out and says, 'Hey, we get it. We understand where we're at. This is what happened here; this is what happened there. Some of you feel this way; some of you feel that way.' This town should be proud of that. They don't run, and they don't hide from anything. They talk, they communicate and they put it out there. Look around the league – I don't see that anywhere else. I haven't seen that letter written by any other team. That's pretty amazing to me. So, what do we do? We're us; we are who we are. We're the Ravens. We're Baltimore – that's who we are. We'll always be that. We'll always be fighting as an organization to be that. Whether it's the anthem, the kneeling, the social [injustices] – all those sorts of things – those are complicated, tough conversations that you have. They're best had one-on-one. I've had a few of those with players here and there, but we're about football here. We're talking about that kind of stuff. You try to take all those influences, all those things that go on in people's lives – whether they are personal things or political things or whatever – and you try to deal with them in a great relational way with your players and make sure the guys are ready to come out and play their best on Sunday. That's what the coach does. As far as the big-picture part of that, that's a whole other conversation. Our players are in the community – I can tell you that. I know of guys who are riding along with police, who are in firehouses around Baltimore, who are in schools, who are in daycare centers, are at shelters every single day, to try to make a difference. Our players are great with that. [Director of community relations] Heather Darney does an amazing job of organizing that. I think the more our fans could learn about that stuff, I think they would really be proud of the people that are representing them as football players in this town."

How much time could you take in the middle of all that, to assess every single player who took a knee in London, to then – three months later – to see a half-empty stadium that's a direct result, according to your president? Some people outside of the organization said that the team should have done something about it. I don't know as a coach, how much time you could take at that point? (Nestor Aparicio) "It's a good question. You do that all the time as a coach. As a leader, you do that. I'm talking to our guys every time, every chance I get about all their things. So of course it comes up with different guys that felt strongly about different things, one way or the other. I had guys cry. I had guys vent. I had guys express frustration about all the different pressures that they feel, from the different places in their life, that they get them from. Just like everybody in this room, all these players have all these pressures from family and friends, organizations and groups, and all those different things because they're out there and they have to deal with that stuff. As a coach, it's a little tough, because I want them thinking about the game. I want them thinking about the challenge at hand, because we have to go out here and play a football game. I know this was something that hit the league a little bit. That's a bigger picture than I can stand up here and address. I couldn't certainly solve it. There's nothing here I could say that could solve it here. There's nothing anyone in the room could say that could solve the big societal issues. You just try to understand where guys are coming from and try to perform and get guys in a place where they can play their best football on Sunday. That's what you try to do as a coach, and that's what I tried to do."

When you go back to the play that decided the season – the fourth-and-12 – what can you tell the fans about what happened on that play? (Jerry Coleman) "Any call that doesn't work right, I'm second-guessing. I'm involved in that call. We called a good defense, and we just didn't play it very well. That's what you have to look at. I'm going to look at it big-picture-wise and say, 'OK, why didn't we play that play well with our structure?' It's a young guy, whoever it might be ... It's football; it happens. It wasn't played well. It wasn't played the way it needed to be played. From a football standpoint, a secondary teaching progression, we didn't play the defense quite right. [Andy Dalton] dropped the ball in there into a spot that was crazy. Again, that's the drama of football. We'll do everything we can to make our defense better next year. Our defense was pretty darn good this year, but I guarantee it can be better. As young guys get better, and we tweak the system and make it even better – which I happen to think is the best defensive system in football right now – we'll make it even better, because that's what we're going to do."

How close are you in the defensive coordinator search? Is there a quality you're looking for in a candidate besides just a great defensive coordinator? (Peter Schmuck) "Definitely continuity. I'm a believer in this system. This system has been something that's been developed for a long period of time, and we have worked really hard every single year to make it better. We've evolved it and grown it, and I think you see the results. I know our opponents do and [admit] how hard we are to play against. I'm not going to bring somebody in from the outside and flip the whole system around, do something completely different. We're going to build on everything we've done. So, it'll be somebody who's been involved in this system before, for sure, somebody either inside or somebody who's outside who has been in this system before. You can probably figure out who those people are; you guys have written some stuff about that. I'll hopefully know soon, and we'll roll. It'll be a guy who allows us to continue to get better."

When you look at the wide receiver group, did you feel like you had the right mix of talents this year and you just got a little unfortunate with the injuries, or is that an area where you need a reimagining? (Childs Walker) "I don't know what word to exactly put on it. I think it's a good question. That's an area that we have to look at really hard. We have to build that whole area up. You have free agents, you have injuries, we have a couple young guys in there, at different situations with those guys. You guys can all look at the situation and say, 'Hey, here's what it is.' I see the same thing everybody sees. We have to build that thing up to where it's great. I have no problem with the guys themselves. I think the guys themselves competed like crazy and did everything they could to be as good as they can be. The passing game wasn't where it needed to be. We all know that. Some of that is the fact that we didn't get a chance in training camp to really develop it. Danny [Woodhead] missed all of training camp, [Breshad] Perriman missed all of training camp, and Joe [Flacco] missed all of training camp. Now we come into the season, and we're just trying to see what we can execute, and do efficiently against a NFL defense. That's a tough starting point, but I want to start in a way better place next year than we did this year. I think the personnel part of the wide receiver position is a big part of that."

At last year's end of the season address, a lot was made about getting QB Joe Flacco weapons and doing more to support it. You signed RB Danny Woodhead and WR Jeremy Maclin, but you didn't draft any. Do you have to have a departure from that? I know you're going to say you want to take the best player available this offseason, but do you have to go all in now about finding some of these offensive players? (Jeff Zrebiec) "The best available player thing, I think it's better for Ozzie [Newsome] to answer that. That has been a mantra, and I don't think you ever get away from that. That's a way of looking at it. You're not going to walk away from a great player to chase a need, but you're always drafting to your roster. So you say, 'Which is it?' Well, it's both. The more you have a need in an area, the more you're trying to get that area filled. The best way to do it is through the draft. There's no question, I think if anyone looks at the needs on our team, that's where we're going to be looking to fill our roster. I'm not giving away any secret there. Everybody in the league knows that. We have to do that. If there's some player sitting there, just staring us in the face, at a position of strength – knowing Ozzie and his system, and I would agree with it – you're just not going to not take that guy. By the same token, the draft is to make your team as strong as it can possibly be. I think that's where our focus is going to be."

Have you seen enough with how RB Alex Collins has played this year to feel good that going into next season he will be a starter? Or, do you look to even upgrade the running back position as well? (Jamison Hensley) "I'm looking to upgrade everything. You know that's how I'm going to answer the question. Alex Collins has proven the fact that he can be a very good back in this league. [Javorius] 'Buck' Allen – look at the year 'Buck' had. We have other guys in the mix there, too. Terrance [West] is a free agent now. What a tough year for Terrance West. He was doing pretty darn well. He gets the calf injury, misses a chunk of the season, and at that point in time, there's really no way to work him back in. I tried – there's one game I wanted to get him out there, and the game didn't even go where I could put him on the field. Those are challenging things, but we're going to look to have the best running back group we can. If that means we add a guy, I'm all for it. If it means it's these guys we have, then yeah, I think they're good enough. I'm all for adding a guy in that position, if we get the right kind of guy that can make us better." (Reporter: "Would RB Kenneth Dixon be a guy, too?") "Kenneth Dixon should be right in that conversation. Kenneth has to take care of his business and be ready to go. I see him in here doing it all the time. Heck yeah, Kenneth Dixon is a big part of that conversation."

Does the organization have to come to terms with WR Breshad Perriman with the fact that he might be a blown draft pick? (Stan Charles) "The labels and all that, I try to stay away from. But the question is something that absolutely Breshad and I talk about. Breshad is a wonderful, wonderful young man. He wants to fulfill all the expectations that he has for himself, for his family, his dad, his mom. I met them. They want the best for him, and he wants to be great. That's something that we have to find out. It's up to Breshad; it's up to us. In the end, this is a tough league. You have to go out there, and you have to earn your stripes. The injuries have really taken a toll on him. We'll see how it goes. I'm confident he can do it. I'm hopeful he can do it; I want him to do it. I'll do everything I can; we'll do everything we can, as a coaching staff, to make him the best he can be, because we need him to be great. But if it doesn't work out, then it's going to be somebody else – that goes for any player."

What were your opinions on WR Breshad Perriman coming out of OTAs this year? (Stan Charles) “I felt great about him. Then the injury happened, and boy, it just set him back. Every time he’s gotten hurt, it sets him back, for whatever reason. That’s been the toughest thing to deal with.”

Do you expect WR Breshad Perriman and WR Jeremy Maclin back next season? (Jerry Coleman) “I expect everybody back. We’re three days from the season, and we haven’t had that meeting yet. As far as the salary cap, the numbers and all those kind of things, those are good questions for the next meeting probably. We’ll decide all those things. I’m encouraged by everybody. There’s not one guy here that I don’t want back because I don’t want them. There’s really nobody like that. I like everybody, and I think they bring something to the table.”

CB Jimmy Smith tore his Achilles in early December. Is the expectation that he’ll be ready for the start of next season, or is that still up in the air? (Jamison Hensley) “It’s up in the air. It’s a good question. It’s normally a 6-8-month injury with an Achilles. You saw how fast ‘Sizz’ [Terrell Suggs] came back from his. Then there’s always a building back to your skill set, too – so we understand that. If you do the math, eight months will be September for Jimmy. That’s conservative; it’s really a little more than that. We’ll see where he’s at. I’m hopeful, but we’ll have a bunch of corners here, too, to make sure that we have enough corners – as you know.”

It seems like there were more drops this year. Did it seem that way to you, and is that correctable? (Brett Hollander) “Yes, it was a problem. It’s fixable by having receivers out there that catch the ball. Either they catch the ball better or we get guys who catch the ball. I think the No. 1 trait for any receiver is catching the football. If you’re going to be a receiver – whether a wide receiver, tight end or a running back – you have to catch it. Period. That’s what you do – you catch the ball. So all the other stuff is important, but it is below that. You have to have receivers that will catch the ball. I don’t mean just catch the [easy] ones; you have to catch the rough ones, too. The contested catches are the ones that set them apart in this league.”

Are there any other players beside CB Jimmy Smith who are going to be having offseason surgery? Is there anything like that you’re aware of? (Luke Jones) “If I miss somebody just ask me about them. Tavon [Young] is doing great. Tavon should be ready for OTAs and ready to roll. Kenny Dixon will be ready to roll. Alex Lewis will be ready to go. Albert [McClellan] should be ready to go, at least by training camp – maybe sooner. I think sooner, actually. Jimmy [Smith], we talked about. Marshal [Yanda], I won’t do anything with Marshal until training camp, probably. But, Marshal will be ready long before that, and he’s already moving and doing some things. Brent Urban will be ready to roll, if we re-sign him. He’s on my list, so I brought him up. I’m all for re-signing Brent Urban – for the record. Anthony Levine – he had a little injury in the game. I haven’t gotten a report on that one yet, so I don’t know the extent of his injury. It wasn’t a surgery-type injury, I don’t think. Darren Waller, I don’t know – haven’t talked to him since he’s on suspension. At some point in time, I’ll be allowed to talk to him. When I’m given the thumbs up on that, I’ll find out about Darren. Is there anybody else that you guys can think of? Tim White is 100-percent now. He’s healed. He probably could’ve played the last six weeks of the season, but we didn’t have that roster spot. He wasn’t one of those guys.” (Reporter: “Would Jeremy Maclin have been ready if the season was still continuing?”) “Maclin would have had a chance for this game – a very realistic chance for this game.”

Closing statement: “Thank you very much – appreciate you guys. Thanks for a great year! You guys have been good, been tough, been fair. I appreciate you very much. We have a great media corps in this town. After 10 years in this town, you get to know each other pretty well. It’s a great group here, and thanks for all you do.”

GAME 4: STEELERS 26, RAVENS 9

Baltimore (2-2) • Pittsburgh (3-1)

Sunday, October 1, 2017 • 1:02 PM ET • M&T Bank Stadium • Baltimore

Weather: 64°, Cloudy, Wind N 6 mph • Attendance: 71,126 • Time: 3:16

For the second-straight week, Baltimore struggled in the first half, falling behind 19-0, on its way to a 26-9 home loss to the rival Steelers at M&T Bank Stadium. Pittsburgh moved into first place in the AFC North with a 3-1 mark, while the Ravens, losers of two in a row, dropped to 2-2. Down 19-3, the Ravens rallied, orchestrating consecutive scoring drives in the third quarter, including a K Justin Tucker 42-yard FG and a QB Joe Flacco-to-WR Mike Wallace 16-yard TD strike. When RB Terrance West converted the 2-point play, the score was 19-11. However, an official's review reversed the West points, and that made the difference 10 at 19-9. Flacco then produced two fourth-quarter interceptions, the first to LB Ryan Shazier and the second to CB Mike Hilton. On Pittsburgh's first possession of the game, which ended with a K Chris Boswell 31-yard FG, the Steelers held the ball 10:23 on a 16-play, 84-yard drive. Boswell's second FG (49 yards) gave the visitors a 6-0 lead in the second quarter. After a fumble by Ravens' RB Alex Collins at the Baltimore 28-yard line, the Steelers scored the game's first TD on a 1-yard RB Le'Veon Bell run. After a 3-and-out by the Ravens' offense, the Steelers scored again on an 11-yard QB Ben Roethlisberger TD throw to WR JuJu Smith-Schuster. A 2-point conversion failed, making the score 19-0 after two quarters. The game's final TD came on another Bell 1-yard TD score with 2:26 remaining in the contest. Bell finished the game with 144 rushing yards (4.1 avg.) and added 4 catches for 42 yards. "Big Ben" was 18-of-30 for 216 yards. Collins led the Ravens with 82 yards on 9 rushes, while Wallace's 6 catches for 55 yards were tops in both categories in the game. Flacco was 31-of-49 for 235 yards and was sacked 4 times. The Steelers decidedly owned the time-of-possession edge, 35:29 to 24:31.

GAME 6: BEARS 27, RAVENS 24 (OT)

Baltimore (3-3) • Chicago (2-4)

Sunday, October 15, 2017 • 1:02 PM ET • M&T Bank Stadium • Baltimore

Weather: 69°, Partly Cloudy, Wind S 7 mph • Attendance: 70,616 • Time: 3:26

A dramatic comeback by the Ravens fell short when the Bears won in overtime, 27-24. Two Baltimore special teams' TDs, including a 77-yard punt return by WR Michael Campanaro that tied the game with 1:37 left in regulation, helped the Ravens rebound from a 17-3, third-quarter deficit. However, K Connor Barth kicked a 40-yard FG with 2:08 remaining in OT to lift the visiting Bears to victory. Chicago rode a defense that created 3 turnovers, including 2 INTs that were converted into TDs. (Both INTs came off passes that deflected off Ravens receivers.) The Bears also depended on a run-driven offense that featured 231 rushing yards, the most ever in a game against the Ravens, including 167 by RB Jordan Howard, whose 53-yard run in OT helped set up the winning FG. After a scoreless first quarter, the Bears took a 3-0 lead on a 24-yard Barth FG. Chicago then used a 21-yard halfback pass from RB Tarik Cohen to TE Zach Miller for the game's first TD and a 10-0 lead. Ravens K Justin Tucker's 27-yard FG made the score 10-3 at the half. Rookie QB Mitchell Trubisky, starting the first road game of his career, threw a 27-yard TD to TE Dion Sims to push the Bears' lead to 17-3 in the third period. Ravens RB Bobby Rainey, who had been signed earlier in the week, then brought the home crowd to life with a 96-yard kick return for a score (17-10). (It was the first time in team history that the Ravens returned both a kickoff and punt for touchdowns in the same game.) A 31-yard FG by Tucker brought the Ravens within 4 (17-13) with 11:26 left in the game. Chicago's S Adrian Amos then grabbed a deflected pass off WR Chris Moore and raced 90 yards to the end zone, making the score 24-13 with 5:08 remaining. A 50-yard Tucker FG got the Ravens within 8 (24-16) with 2:56 showing on the clock. Campanaro's punt return, followed by QB Joe Flacco's 2-point conversion to TE Nick Boyle, tied the game at 24 at the end of the fourth quarter. The Ravens had the ball at their 40 on their lone possession in the overtime, but failed to gain a first down. The Bears then used the long run by Howard to move the ball to Baltimore's 40. Trubisky, who completed just 8 of 16 for 113 yards, hit WR Kendall Wright with an 18-yard first-down throw to the Ravens' 23 on a third-and-11 to set up the winning FG.

GAME 8: RAVENS 40, DOLPHINS 0

Baltimore (4-4) • Miami (4-3)

Thursday, October 26, 2017 • 8:26 PM ET • M&T Bank Stadium • Baltimore
Weather: 56°, Partly Cloudy, Wind W 9 mph • Attendance: 70,408 • Time: 3:09

The Ravens were dominant in all phases when they shut out the visiting Dolphins at M&T Bank Stadium, 40-0, in a Thursday night special. It was the Ravens' second shutout of the season and the third-largest margin of victory in team history. Baltimore's defense produced 2 fourth-quarter TDs, the first by ILB C.J. Mosley on a 63-yard theft and sprint. The second came on a 50-yard INT by CB Jimmy Smith. The Dolphins produced only 196 yards on offense, the lowest allowed by the Ravens this season. Despite RB Jay Ajayi posting a 21-yard run on his first carry, the Ravens' "D" limited Miami to 45 rushing yards. The win stopped a three-game Dolphins' winning streak. QB Joe Flacco, who was 10-of-15 for 101 yards and whose 34-yard TD pass to WR Jeremy Maclin gave the Ravens a 7-0, first-quarter lead, left the game with a concussion after being hit by LB Kiko Alonso in the second quarter. RB Alex Collins produced a career-high 113 rushing yards on 18 carries as part of the 174 ground yards by the Ravens. K Justin Tucker added FGs of 55 and 48 yards, both coming in the second quarter. QB Ryan Mallett, who replaced Flacco and was 3-of-7 for 20 yards, threw a 2-yard TD to TE Benjamin Watson at the end of the second quarter, giving the Ravens a 20-0 halftime lead. The teams were scoreless in the third quarter. Along with the 2 INTs for TDs, the Ravens added a third fourth-quarter TD when WR Chris Moore recovered a Mallett fumble in the end zone. Miami QB Matt Moore was 25-of-44 for 176. It was Baltimore's ninth-consecutive primetime triumph at home (6-0 under John Harbaugh). The Ravens' defense registered 11 tackles for loss, tying its single-season high (also 11 vs. Chicago.) DT Brandon Williams led the team with 3 TFL, posting 4 overall stops. The game is the largest shutout win (40 points) by the Ravens in their history. The next best mark is 37 points on 9/24/00 vs. Cincinnati.

GAME 9: TITANS 23, RAVENS 20

Baltimore (4-5) • Tennessee (5-3)

Sunday, November 5, 2017 • 1:02 PM ET • Nissan Stadium • Nashville
Weather: 75°, Cloudy, Wind WSW 10 mph • Attendance: 67,322 • Time: 3:07

Heading into their Week 10 bye, the Ravens recorded their third loss in four games as Tennessee outlasted Baltimore, 23-20, at Nissan Stadium. The Ravens rallied in the fourth quarter with 2 Joe Flacco TD passes in the final 8:56, but the Titans scored a critical fourth-quarter touchdown of their own, which proved too much for Baltimore to overcome. The Titans jumped out to a 10-3, first-quarter lead on their opening drive with K Ryan Succop's 48-yard field goal and a QB Marcus Mariota-to-WR Rishard Matthews 16-yard touchdown. The score followed a K Justin Tucker field goal (30 yards) on the Ravens' first possession. On the Ravens' second drive, a deep ball intended for WR Breshad Perriman was intercepted by S Keith Byard, who had 2 picks in the game, and the Titans converted with the Matthews' TD. Baltimore cut the lead to 10-6 early in the second quarter with Tucker's second field goal (49 yards). Tennessee then capitalized on a Ravens' roughing the passer penalty (OLB Za'Darius Smith) when RB Derrick Henry raced into the end zone on a 1-yard run. After a failed PAT that was wide right, the Titans extended their lead to 16-6 at the half. At the end of a scoreless third quarter, Baltimore was driving and attempted its third fourth-down conversion of the day on a handoff to RB Javorius Allen up the middle, and it appeared he had gotten enough for a first down, but the ball was spotted short of the marker. The Ravens challenged the spot, but lost on the official review. Baltimore grabbed the ball right back after a S Eric Weddle INT and then scored on a Flacco-to-Allen 3-yard TD, cutting the deficit to 3 points (16-13). But the Ravens' defense failed to keep the Titans out of the end zone, as Tennessee drove 75 yards and scored on an 11-yard Mariota-to-WR Eric Decker pass. WR Mike Wallace secured a 1-yard TD pass with 0:46 seconds to go, but Tucker's onside kick attempt failed. The Ravens lost despite limiting the Titans, the NFL's eighth-ranked rushing team, to 71 yards on the ground and winning the time of possession battle 32:22 to 27:38.

GAME 10: RAVENS 23, PACKERS 0

Baltimore (5-5) • Green Bay (5-5)

Sunday, November 19, 2017 • 1:02 PM ET • Lambeau Field • Green Bay

Weather: 28°, Sunny, Wind WNW 14 mph • Attendance: 77,945 • Time: 3:01

The Ravens stole the ball 5 times, scoring 13 points after those turnovers, recorded 6 sacks and produced their third shutout in 10 games when they beat the Packers, 23-0, at Lambeau Field. These are the most shutouts the Ravens have registered since their historic defense claimed four in 2000. Baltimore's defense intercepted 3 QB Brett Hundley passes, including 1 by CB Jimmy Smith in the Ravens' end zone at the end of the game's opening drive. S Eric Weddle also secured an INT, as did rookie CB Marlon Humphrey, who had the first of his NFL career. QB Joe Flacco was 22-of-28 for 183 yards, including a sharp 21-yard TD strike to WR Mike Wallace on the opening series of the third quarter. That made the score 13-0 after 2 K Justin Tucker FGs (32 and 39 yards) gave the Ravens a 6-0 halftime advantage. (On two of Green Bay's third quarter possessions, the Packers attempted fourth-down conversions and were stopped by the powerful Ravens defense.) Tucker added a third FG in the final quarter, a 23-yard boot that gave the Ravens a 16-0 lead. The final points came when RB Alex Collins scored his first TD as a Raven with a 3-yard run. That score was set up by Humphrey's INT. Hundley completed 21 of 36 for 239 yards, including 8 to WR Davante Adams for 126 yards. RB Danny Woodhead, in his first game back since the season opener, led the Ravens with 5 catches for 21 yards. WRs Mike Wallace (56 yards) and Jeremy Maclin (34), along with Collins (22), had 4 receptions each. Collins added 49 rushing yards. Baltimore enjoyed outstanding field position throughout the game with P Sam Koch landing 5 punts inside the 20. OLB Terrell Suggs, OLB Matthew Judon and DT Willie Henry each produced 2 sacks. The victory was John Harbaugh's 100th overall as the Ravens' head coach.

GAME 11: RAVENS 23, TEXANS 16

Baltimore (6-5) • Houston (4-7)

Monday, November 27, 2017 • 8:30 PM ET • M&T Bank Stadium • Baltimore
Weather: 50°, Fair, Wind SE 1 mph • Attendance: 70,357 • Time: 3:06

Houston scored a touchdown on its first possession, and that was the only time the Texans found the end zone in the Ravens' 23-16 win. That drive was helped by 3 Ravens' penalties, including a pass interference call that gave the Texans the ball on the Baltimore 4-yard line. The Ravens stole the ball 3 times, with 2 coming late in the fourth quarter when they clinched the game. The Ravens were turnover-free, helping them win their third game in the last four outings. The victory moved Baltimore to 6-5 and kept the team firmly in the playoff mix (sixth position). The Ravens scored 10 points off of their takeaways, kept a drive alive with a completed pass on a fake punt, and converted a fourth-and-1 to continue another TD series. RB Lamar Miller's 4-yard run gave the Texans a 7-0, first-quarter lead. The Ravens tied the game, 7-7, early in the second quarter when RB Javorius Allen ran 10 yards for the score, which was set up by P Sam Koch's fake punt pass to WR Chris Moore for 22 yards to the Houston 19. On the Ravens' next possession, QB Joe Flacco flipped a lateral to RB Alex Collins on a fourth-and-1 from the Texans' 37, and the quick RB raced 29 yards to the 8, setting up his 8-yard TD run for a 14-7 advantage. K Ka'imi Fairbairn (25 yards) and K Justin Tucker (53 yards) then exchanged FGs to make the score 17-10 at the half. Fairbairn's 36-yard FG was the only score in the third quarter (17-13). Those two then made kicks on consecutive fourth-quarter possessions – Tucker from 31 yards and Fairbairn from 37 – giving the Ravens a 20-16 lead. OLB Terrell Suggs then stripped-sacked QB Tom Savage, and OLB C.J. Mosley won the scrum for the fumble to set up the game's final score, a 49-yard Tucker FG. DB/LB Anthony Levine Sr. stopped Houston's final drive with an INT with 2:26 left in the contest. The Ravens kept possession until the end, converting a first down on a 25-yard run by Flacco. The Ravens rushed for 139 yards, with Collins earning 60 of those. Baltimore's defense was stout again, limiting the Texans, who entered the game as the NFL's No. 6 rushing offense, to a season-low 66 yards. Suggs produced 2 sacks to up his team best to 9.5 for the season. It was the 10th-straight home primetime win for the Ravens, who are 12-1 in night games in Baltimore under John Harbaugh.

GAME 12: RAVENS 44, LIONS 20

Baltimore (7-5) • Detroit (6-6)

Sunday, December 3, 2017 • 1:02 PM ET • M&T Bank Stadium • Baltimore
Weather: 53°, Partly Sunny, Wind WNW 4 mph • Attendance: 70,500 • Time: 3:05

The Ravens took a 20-0 halftime lead and fought back with a team-record-tying 24 points in the fourth quarter on their way to a key 44-20 victory over the Lions at M&T Bank Stadium. Those are the most points scored by the Ravens in 2017. It was Baltimore's third win in a row and fourth in the last five games, keeping them in the current playoff picture. The Ravens' defense stole the ball 3 times, each leading to scores: a second-quarter strip-sack led to a QB Joe Flacco-to-DL/FB Patrick Ricard TD; a fourth-quarter INT set up a game-clinching RB Alex Collins' TD, and S Eric Weddle closed the contest with a 45-yard INT-TD. Flacco threw for 2 TDs and 269 yards. He helped the Ravens to a 20-0 intermission lead with a 1-yard TD toss to TE Benjamin Watson and the Ricard throw. Flacco completed 23 of 36, directing an offense that did not turn the ball over. The Ravens took a 3-0, first-quarter advantage on K Justin Tucker's 38-yard FG. Tucker added a 46-yarder at the end of the half. The third quarter belonged to the Lions. QB Matthew Stafford directed two 7-play TD drives, the first ending with a RB Theo Riddick 4-yard TD and second that saw rookie RB Tion Green scamper 6 yards to the end zone. With the score at 20-13, the Ravens roared back with a spectacular 9-play drive that finished with a Collins' 7-yard TD. Stafford, who was in the throes of a team-record consecutive completed pass run of 20, brought the Lions back, finishing with a 1-yard TD throw to LB Nick Bellore. A 51-yard Tucker FG gave the Ravens a 30-20 lead with 6:54 remaining. A CB Marlon Humphrey INT led to another Collins TD (6 yards) before Weddle's game-ending "pick-6" off QB Jake Rudock, who replaced an injured Stafford (hand). WR Mike Wallace caught 5 for 116 yards, all in the first half. His 66-yard catch to the Lions' 1-yard line set up Baltimore's first TD. CB Jimmy Smith, who was having a Pro Bowl-type season, left the game with a torn Achilles.

GAME 13: STEELERS 39, RAVENS 38

Baltimore (7-6) • Pittsburgh (11-2)

Sunday, December 10, 2017 • 8:30 PM ET • Heinz Field • Pittsburgh

Weather: 33°, Cloudy, Wind SW 12 mph • Attendance: 60,069 • Time: 3:29

Pittsburgh K Chris Boswell's 46-yard field goal with 42 seconds left in the game gave the host Steelers a 39-38 win over the Ravens at Heinz Field. Baltimore climbed out of a 14-0, second-quarter deficit in this thriller, taking a 31-20 third-quarter lead and a 38-29 edge with 6:44 left in the game. But Pittsburgh, which produced 545 yards of offense, created a comeback of its own. The Ravens saw their three-game winning streak stopped, while the Steelers won their eighth consecutive. The Steelers' "Killer Bs" combination was spectacular, with QB Ben Roethlisberger throwing for 506 yards, including 11 passes to WR Antonio Brown for 213 of those. RB Le'Veon Bell produced 125 yards and scored 3 touchdowns. Bell scored the game's first 2 TDs, the initial on a 20-yard pass from Roethlisberger and the second on a 1-yard run. A QB Joe Flacco-to-WR Chris Moore 30-yard TD made the score 14-7 in the second quarter. An 18-yard TD scamper by Ravens RB Alex Collins and 2 Boswell FGs (52 and 43) made the score 20-14 at the half. Baltimore roared back in the third quarter, outscoring the Steelers 17-0 on a K Justin Tucker 47-yard FG and TDs by RB Javorius Allen (1 yard) and FB/DL Patrick Ricard (6 yards from Flacco). A 24-yard Boswell FG and a 1-yard TD by FB Roosevelt Nix (from Roethlisberger) made the score 31-29 with 9:15 remaining in the contest. A 9-yard Allen TD put the Ravens up 38-29 before Bell's third TD (11 yards) made the score 38-36 with 3:29 left. Flacco completed 20 of 35 for 269 yards to nine different receivers, with 2 TDs and an INT on the game's opening drive. Collins rushed for 120 yards on 18 carries, helping the Ravens to a season-high 413 yards. Roethlisberger was 44-of-66 and was sacked 3 times. TE Jesse James grabbed 10 for 97 yards. The win clinched the AFC North for Pittsburgh.

GAME 15: RAVENS 23, COLTS 16

Baltimore (9-6) • Indianapolis (3-12)

Saturday, December 23, 2017 • 4:30 PM ET • M&T Bank Stadium • Baltimore
Weather: 63°, Cloudy, Rain, Wind SSW 14 mph • Attendance: 70,590 • Time: 2:56

The Ravens won for the fifth time in six games when they survived strong winds and pouring rain in a 23-16 victory over the Colts at M&T Bank Stadium. This game was in doubt until CB Maurice Canady knocked the ball away from WR T.Y. Hilton on a fourth-and-10 at the Baltimore 17-yard line with 1:43 left in the battle. Despite the conditions, neither team turned the ball over, but the Ravens dominated time of possession, 35:48 to 24:12. QB Joe Flacco directed 5 scoring drives of at least 10 plays, the best the Ravens' offense produced since the 2011 season. After a three-and-out by the Colts to open the contest, the Ravens made a 14-play, 52-yard series that ended with a 30-yard K Justin Tucker FG. The Ravens made it 10-0 in the second quarter on a 6-yard Flacco-to-WR Michael Campanaro TD (10 plays, 71 yards). As they did all game, the Colts bounced back, getting to within 3 (10-7) after a QB Jacoby Brissett 14-yard TD throw to RB Frank Gore. Tucker made it 13-7 at the half with a 39-yard FG. Baltimore opened the second half with another long drive (11 plays, 57 yards), and Tucker converted a 36-yard FG to take a 16-7 lead. Indianapolis responded with a pair of K Adam Vinatieri FGs (48 and 38 yards) to bring the Colts within 3, 16-13, after three quarters. The Ravens then ate clock and jumped to a 23-13 advantage when Flacco found TE Maxx Williams for a 4-yard TD at the end of a 14-play drive that started the fourth quarter. Vinatieri's 30-yard FG put the Colts within a TD (23-16) with 4:33 left in the game. Indy then made it dramatic when LB Anthony Walker blocked a P Sam Koch punt that was recovered at the Ravens' 27-yard line with 2:36 left in the contest. The Colts moved to the 10 before a 7-yard sack by OLB Za'Darius Smith set up Canady's important pass defense on the fourth down. Flacco finished with 29 completions on 38 passes for 237 yards. TE Benjamin Watson and RB Danny Woodhead each caught 5 for 40 and 33 yards, respectively. Brissett was 16-of-33 for 215 yards, including 6 to Hilton for 100 yards, while Gore added 68 rushing yards. S Tony Jefferson blocked a Vinatieri 38-yard FG attempt in the first quarter.

GAME 16: BENGALS 31, RAVENS 27

Baltimore (9-7) • Cincinnati (7-9)

Sunday, December 31, 2017 • 4:25 PM ET • M&T Bank Stadium • Baltimore

Weather: 19°, Cloudy, Wind NW 12 mph • Attendance: 70,507 • Time: 3:33

In a game where the Ravens had an opportunity to “win and get in” to the playoffs, Baltimore fell short, losing to AFC North rival Cincinnati at home to close out the 2017 season. After falling behind, 17-3, on two TE Tyler Kroft TD catches and a Bengals’ FG, the Ravens trailed 17-10 at halftime. With :26 seconds left in the first half, Baltimore did gain momentum following an electrifying 87-yard KOR by WR/RS Chris Moore to give the Ravens the ball on the Bengals’ 6-yard line. Moore then caught a 6-yard TD pass from QB Joe Flacco with :08 seconds left. But, early in the third quarter, with the Ravens driving, Bengals CB Darqueze Dennard secured a bobbled pass intended for Moore and returned it 89 yards for a TD, giving Cincinnati a 24-10 lead. The Ravens battled back, scoring on their next possession on a 17-yard RB Alex Collins run with 6:16 to go in the third quarter. After Cincinnati was forced to punt, Baltimore then engineered a 14-play drive that ended with a 34-yard FG by K Justin Tucker, his second of the game, bringing the Ravens to within 4 points (24-20) early in the fourth quarter. On the next possession, the Ravens’ defense held Cincinnati in check, forcing a three-and-out, giving Baltimore a chance to take the lead. After an unnecessary roughness call on the Bengals (Brian Hill) during WR/RS Michael Campanaro’s 18-yard punt return, Baltimore started its next drive at the Cincinnati 45. Flacco then completed 5-of-7 passes, including a 6-yard TD to WR Mike Wallace, giving the Ravens a 27-24 margin. Baltimore’s defense forced another three-and-out on the ensuing Bengals’ possession, but the Ravens were unable to seal the victory, after being forced to punt with 2:51 to go in the game. Cincinnati QB Andy Dalton then marched his team 90 yards on 10 plays, including a heartbreaking 49-yard TD pass on fourth-and-12 to WR Tyler Boyd with :44 seconds left in the game. During the drive, Ravens S Eric Weddle intercepted a pass, but it was negated due to a defensive holding penalty.

SAFETY

DROPPIN' FOR LOSS

While with Arizona in 2016, S Tony Jefferson's 13 tackles for loss led all NFL defensive backs. The 13 TFL rank as the NFL's most by a DB in a season since the stat began being tracked in 2008. Since 2015, Jefferson leads the NFL in TFL by a DB, with 24 such stops, including 7 in his first year (2017) with the Ravens.

"No disrespect to any of the guys I've played with, but it's nice not to have to explain why I do certain things or why I'm doing this in this coverage. From Day One, [Jefferson] already had a feel for how I play and how to work off me. ... It frees me up a lot more mentally. I don't have to tell him after each play why I did this or, before the snap, say, 'Let's do this.' He already knows. That is just light years ahead of most guys I've played with. I've loved every guy I've played with, but he's just on another level."

— CAREER HIGHLIGHTS —

- Is the most accurate kicker in NFL history at 90.2%, connecting on 202 of 224 FG attempts
- Has registered five seasons with 30-plus field goals made, which ties David Akers, John Carney and Stephen Gostkowski for the most in NFL history
- In 2016, earned his second Pro Bowl invitation and was a unanimous first-team All-Pro selection after producing perhaps the greatest season ever by an NFL kicker... Scored a single-season franchise-record 141 points, connecting on 38 of 39 FGs (lone miss was a block) and 27 of 27 PATs...Tucker's 38 FGs ranked first in the NFL, while he was 10-for-10 from 50-plus yards, tying (Blair Walsh, 2012) for the most such kicks in NFL single-season history...An NFL single-season record 24 of Tucker's 38 FGs made came from 40 yards or beyond (he was 24-of-24 on such boots)
- Fastest kicker in NFL history to make 100 FGs (50 games) and to reach the 500-point milestone (60 games), overtaking Hall of Famer Jan Stenerud (61 games)
- Became the fastest pure kicker in league history to reach the 800-point milestone in his 95th game...Only Gino Cappelletti (a WR/kicker combo from 1960-70) did it faster (93 games)
- His seven-career AFC Special Teams Player of the Week Awards are the most in franchise history
- Since 2012, ranks first in the NFL with 202 FGs made, while his 811 points rank second to Stephen Gostkowski (901)
- Owns 12-career game-winning FGs (11 regular season and 1 playoff), connecting on 8 of those in road games
- Became just the ninth kicker in league history to make 3 FGs of 50-plus yards in a single game, connecting on kicks of 52, 57 & 54 yards, vs. Cin. (11/27/16)
- Since PATs were moved back in 2015, Tucker (95-of-95) is the NFL's only kicker yet to miss
- Established then-single-season team records with 38 FGs made and 140 points in 2013...Made 33-straight FGs, ranking now as the seventh-longest streak in NFL history
- Kicked a franchise-record 61-yard game-winning FG as part of a franchise-record 6 FGs (29, 24, 32, 49, 53 and 61) in the 18-16 victory at Det. (12/16/13), becoming the only kicker in NFL history to kick FGs from the 20-, 30-, 40-, 50- and 60-yard ranges in a single game
- Tucker is a four-time AFC Special Teams Player of the Month, which ranks one more than legends S Ed Reed & K Matt Stover for the most POM awards in Ravens franchise history

— KEY TRANSACTIONS —

- Re-signed (four-year deal) with Baltimore on 7/15/16
- Originally signed with the Ravens as a RFA on 5/29/12

KICKER

In 2017's Week 16 win vs. the Colts, Tucker (then 802 points) became the fastest pure kicker in league history to reach the 800 milestone, doing so in his 95th game. Of overall players, only Gino Cappelletti (a WR/PK combo from 1960-70) did it faster (93 games).

PERHAPS THE BEST YEAR EVER

In 2016, All-Pro K Justin Tucker connected on 38 of 39 FGAs (lone miss was a block), posting the fifth-best percentage in NFL single-season history. In addition to making 35-straight FGs at one point (tied for fifth-best streak ever), here are several facts about his remarkable season, which is arguably the best ever by a kicker:

- ✓ Tucker's 38 FGs made ranked No. 1 in the NFL. He was also 27-of-27 on PATs. An NFL single-season record 24 of Tucker's 38 FGs made in 2016 came from 40 yards or beyond.
- ✓ Tucker's 10 FGs of 50-plus yards are a Ravens' single-season record. They tie (Blair Walsh, 2012) for the most in NFL history. (Tucker was a perfect 10-for-10 from 50 yards and out during the 2016 season.)
- ✓ Tucker's 141 points ranked second in the league only behind Atlanta's Matt Bryant (158).
- ✓ In Week 12 vs. Cincy, Tucker became just the ninth kicker in league history to make 3 FGs of 50-plus yards in a single game (52, 57 & 54). He is also the first kicker in NFL history to make 3 FGs of 50-plus yards in the first half of a game. (These feats earned him AFC ST POW honors.)

TUCKER TIDBITS

- ✓ Since PATs were moved back in 2015, Tucker (95-of-95) is the only NFL kicker yet to miss.
- ✓ Tucker is a four-time AFC Special Teams Player of the Month, which ranks one more than legends S Ed Reed & K Matt Stover for the most POM awards in Ravens history. (Tucker has also earned seven AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors.) "Tuck" earned his fourth POM award in Nov. 2017, going 8-for-8 on FGAs and 6-for-6 on PATs.
- ✓ Tucker's 6 FGs on 12/16/13 at Det. set a team record and a single-game NFL high in 2013. Against the Lions, he became the first NFL kicker ever to connect from the 20-, 30-, 40-, 50- & 60-yard range in a game.
- ✓ Tucker's 93.7 career FG% when kicking on grass (104-of-111) ranks as the NFL's best of all time.
- ✓ Tucker's 92.5 career FG% (98-of-106) in the second half/overtime ranks as the NFL's best second half/OT mark of all time.

Career game-winning FGs by K Justin Tucker:

- 2016: Week 3 at Jax., 53 yards
- 2016: Week 2 at Cle., 49 yards
- 2015: Week 11 vs. STL, 47 yards
- 2015: Week 8 vs. SD, 39 yards
- 2015: Week 4 at Pit., 52 yards OT
- 2014: Week 3 at Cle., 32 yards
- 2013: Week 15 at Det., 61 yards
- 2013: Week 10 vs. Cin., 46 yards OT
- 2013: Week 5 at Mia., 44 yards
- 2012: Div. at Den., 47 yards 2OT
- 2012: Week 12 at SD, 38 yards OT
- 2012: Week 3 vs. NE, 27 yards

"He's very valuable. I'm a Justin Tucker guy, along with Morgan [Cox, snapper] and Sam [Koch, holder]. It's a team effort in there with the protection, and those guys do a good job. But when it's all said and done, the kicker is key. He's the guy that's going to knock it through the uprights, and there's nobody better than Justin Tucker."
